UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS

WHAT does the University of Arkansas stand for? For a multitude of things—for truth, for righteousness, for democracy, for many virtues which are also the aim of other organizations, institutions and individuals.

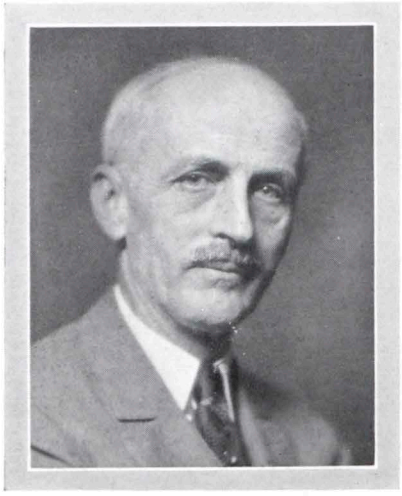

But there are two things the promotion of which are, it seems to me, the special function of a university.

The first of these is scholarship, without which a university is such in name only. Scholarship is not an ostentatious display or pursuit of learning. It is not merely the acquiring of a large quantity of accurate knowledge. Real scholarship implies an attitude of mind that is open, that is always eager for ascertaining the truth, that looks forward toward the discovery of new facts which may be of advantage to the race.

The second function of a university that I would mention is character building. There may be high scholarship without character, but the effect may be a detriment rather than a benefit to society. If any university desires to attain in full measure the chief aim of its existence, it should strive to create on its campus, and among its alumni and students, an atmosphere conducive to the formation of high character. In the ultimate analysis of human affairs, the deeds of men of character are greater than the deeds of men of super-ability who lack this element.

—JOHN C. FUTRALL.

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

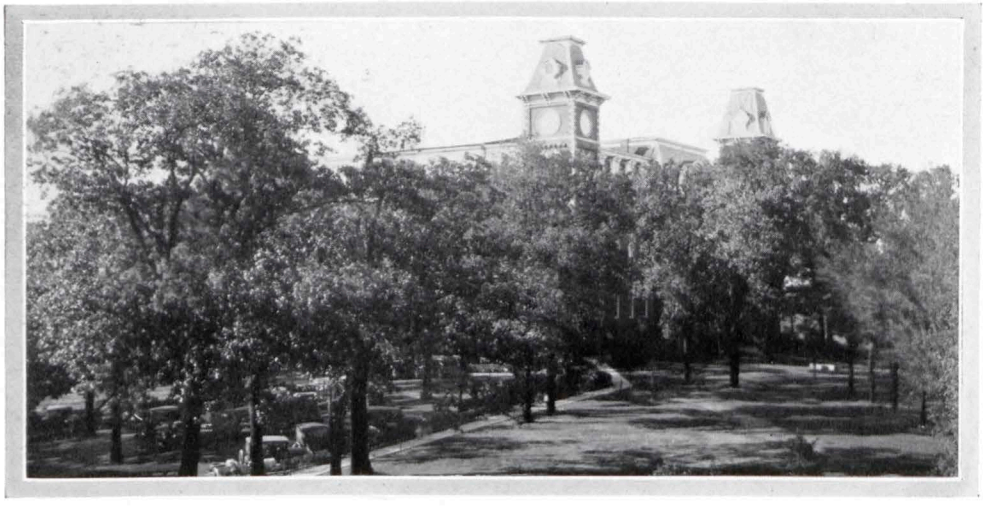

DEAN JONES

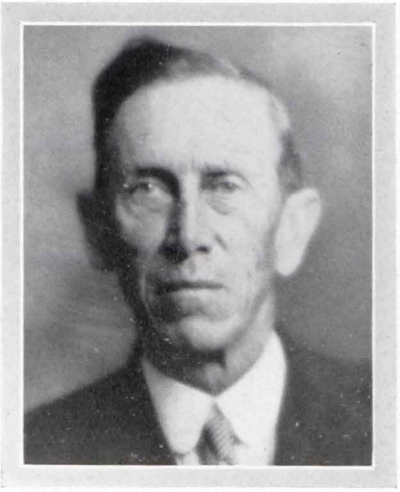

ALL education not immediately practical in its ends is a search for the Beautiful, the True, and the Good. As such, it contains the elements of high adventure, and the promise of lasting satisfaction. Not every student enrolled in the college of liberal arts in America is conscious of seeking the above ideal aims. But every student, even that one whose whole apparent interest is centered in the side-shows that surround the gates of every American university, is "exposed" to that which is true, beautiful, and abiding. In the laboratories, in the libraries, in the classrooms, he is brought face to face with man's methods of search for the truth and with man's conceptions of that which is beautiful and good. Though the thoughtless student will never attain any real mastery of proper understanding of the world in which he lives, he may catch a few consoling glimpses of truth while he is hurried on in the current of a materialistic and mechanical civilization.

The earnest student may find in such surroundings that which will make him an independent thinker, a creator of new forms of beauty, and a force for righteousness in the affairs of men. For him the college of liberal arts chiefly lives, and from him society draws that vigor that enables it to move forward. "Training leaders of mankind" is the ground upon which the college of liberal arts is justified, even though not all of its products are "as cornerstones, polished like a palace."

—VIRGIL L. JONES.

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

DEAN GLADSON

THE functions of the College of Engineering are threefold, consisting of teaching, of experimentation, and of the dissemination of information obtained by research.

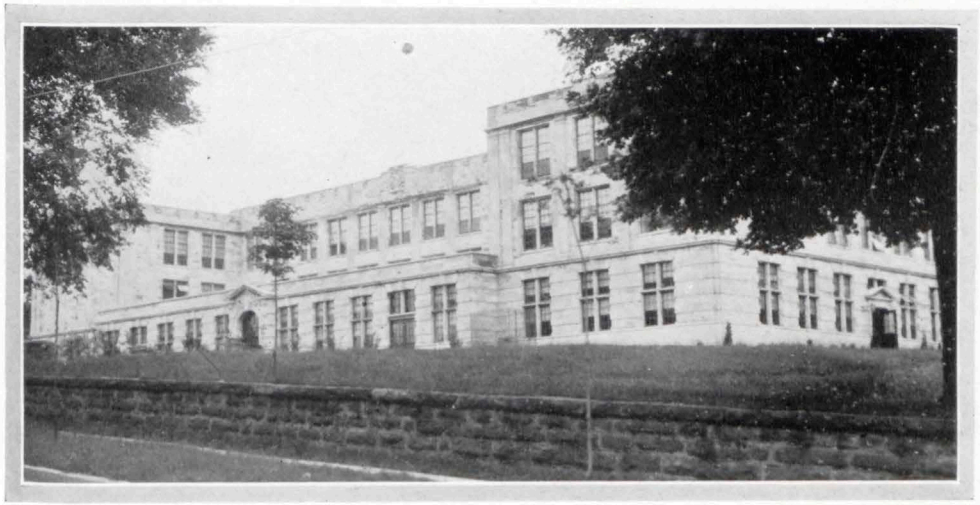

Teaching may be done by residence work, by extension classes, or by correspondence.

No man on receiving his baccalaureate degree is a full-fledged engineer. In college he has learned foundation principles, and better still, he has learned how to study. He is now in possession of a knowledge of the physical sciences, of mathematics, and of the fundamentals of engineering; and, with a few years' practice, he can take rank with others of his profession in accordance with his ability and his diligence.

In lines of research, the Engineering Experiment Station seeks new knowledge, the development of fundamental laws as applied to engineering, and the investigation and collection of information which will aid the industries, and will assist in the discovery and development of natural resources. These investigations may even lead to the development or invention of new machines or processes.

There is opportunity in the Engineering Experiment Station for students to do practical engineering work under the guidance of skilled engineers, each an expert in his line. This experience is very valuable, and materially aids young engineers.

—W. N. GLADSON.

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

DEAN GRAY

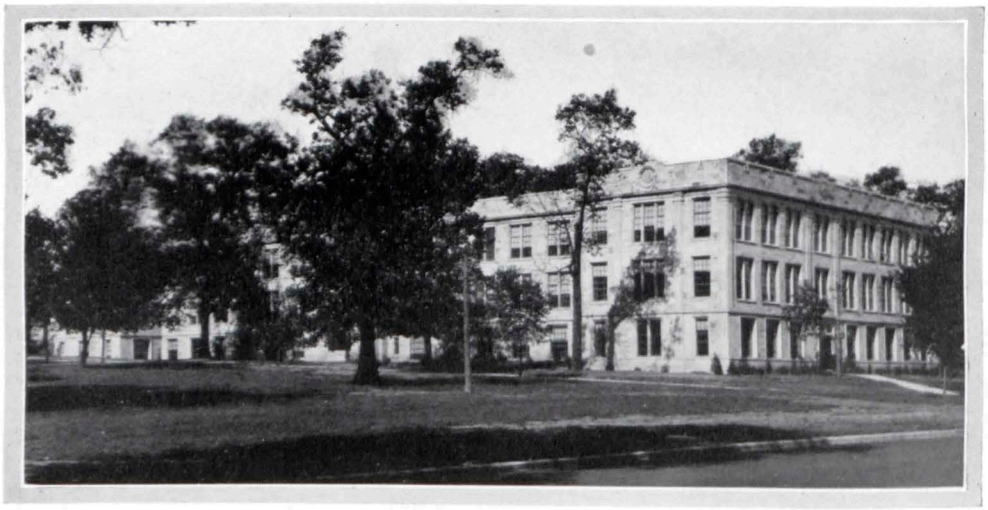

THE College of Agriculture of the University of Arkansas does three things, and its work is divided into three main divisions.

One of these divisions is known as the Agricultural Experiment Station, and its main object is to discover new facts. Those scientists that belong to the staff of the Station devote their time to solving problems which are beyond the individual farmers and their wives. These problems concern plant and animal diseases, fertilizers, products, marketing, and other problems of the farm and home. In all, the College has approximately thirty-five workers associated with the Experiment Station, each official devoting at least a part of his time to definite research problems.

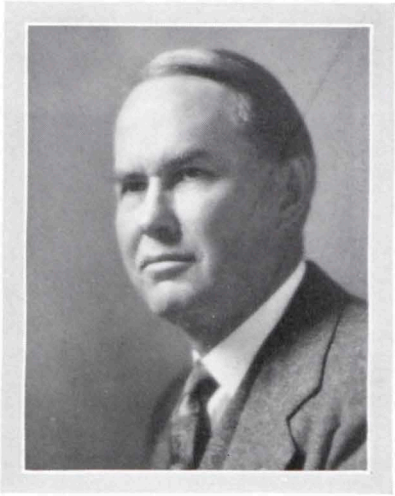

Another division is the college proper—this having to do with teaching resident students. This phase is the one with which the students of the University are most familiar. The college proper deals with resident students, and undertakes to discover and develop new leadership for the rural people of the state.

The third division deals with extension work in agriculture and home economics, and consists of nothing but simple teaching. The students are not taught, however, upon our campus and in our classrooms. They are out in the rural districts, and consist of those who, for various reasons, can not come to the University. The function of this faculty is to teach the farm men and women over the state the principle of better farming and better home-making.

—DAN T. GRAY.

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

DEAN CREAGER

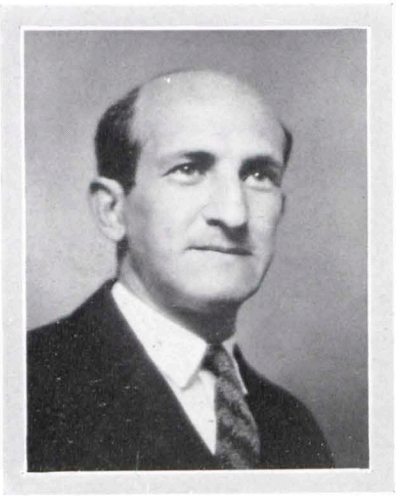

WHY call teacher-training schools "Colleges of Education?" The name is not an accident, but a well-conceived philosophy is back of the christening. Courses for the preparation of teachers were first offered in a State University by Professor Payne in 1879. Much has happened since then, and his "noblest of professions" is emerging in the minds of the world. And the keynote of its nobility is in the fact that we are more and more realizing that the function of this type of university work is to "educate" rather than merely "train" teachers.

University education has steadily maintained that real education is to free men from the hampering influence of tradition. A college of education undertakes this. It is far more than a mere "training or finishing school." It emphasizes a broad education as a basis for professional preparation, which is to be conceived in the most liberal terms. No real College of Education offers a set of recipes for the guaranty of success in "teaching school." The work in practice teaching does give the novice a chance to catch the pace of a trained apprentice. But by the time that he is ready to teach, it is to be hoped that the future teacher may work out his craftmanship successfully, free from servile imitation of traditional practice. The College of Education of the University of Arkansas sets itself to the task of furnishing the State with well-educated teachers, and tries to prepare educational leaders for the State in various lines of work other than classroom teacher.

—J. O. CREAGER.

THE SCHOOL OF LAW

DEAN WATERMAN

NINETEEN TWENTY-SEVEN had peculiar significance for the School of Law. In the spring of 1927, the first class of eight men graduated, and in the fall two more received degrees. Nine of these ten graduates entered the practice in the State.

In the fall, the School of Law began work under more favorable conditions, as two especially equipped classrooms and additional library space were provided. The law library was increased to 8,500 volumes. As a result of a systematic program for the purchase of law books, the present law library represents a careful selection now easily available at all times for the students.

In the fall of 1927, the law students for the first time organized a separate student body. A law school council was elected, and a definite student association effected.

In December of 1927, the School of Law was admitted to membership in the Association of American Law Schools, an organization in which only eleven other Southern law schools are members, and which consists of the fifty leading law schools of America.

While marked gains were made by the School of Law, the passing of Judge William Armistead Falconer, Professor of Law, in November, 1927, was a great loss. He was an able teacher, a profound student of the law, a recognized scholar in the classics, a noble example of the best traditions of the Old South, and a lovable companion.

—J. S. WATERMAN.

DEAN OF THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

FOR many years the University of Arkansas has, under the supervision of a committee, been offering work for graduate students leading to the presentation of the Master's Degree. It was thought wise to reorganize these graduate studies into a formal graduate school. During the last year this new organization has been completed. A dean has been appointed, who has associated with him a permanent graduate council composed of two other members. The direction of graduate students is under the supervision of the dean and of the council. The final responsibility is to the graduate faculty, which consists of members of the general faculty who are giving instruction to graduate students, and which makes the University Senate recommendations for advanced degrees.

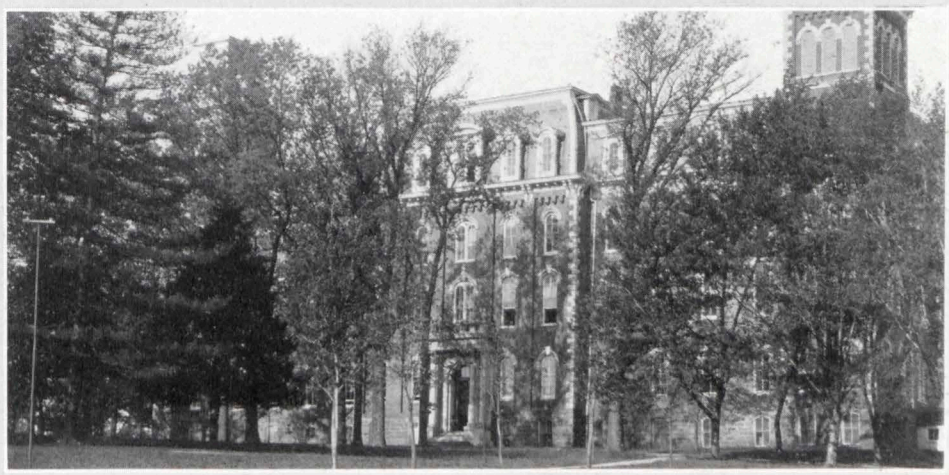

DEAN JORDAN

The University confers the degrees of Master of Arts and Master of Science, and grants also the professional degrees in engineering.

It is the purpose of the graduate school to accomplish for its students two results. We desire to give them further opportunity and training such as is to be derived from their graduate courses. But we hope to make the year devoted to graduate study here more than just a fifth year of college work. We hope to make it also an introduction to advanced methods of work by the assignment of research problems. In this way we endeavor to make the work for the master's degree a transition from the college proper to the strictly research aims of the doctor's degree.

—JOHN CLARK JORDAN.

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

DOCTOR FICHTNER

THE phenomenal industrial growth of the South in recent years has led to the establishment of schools of commerce in most of the Southern state universities. The School of Business Administration established in 1926 at the University of Arkansas is designed to serve the state in this inevitable economic expansion.

The School of Business Administration aims to train business leaders. In training for business, however, problems of citizenship and larger relations covering our economic organization as a whole are emphasized along with the professional aspects of business practice. Training is cultural as well as practical.

In training men for business, our procedure is: First, to set forth the human and material forces with which business deals; second, to teach the established principles of economics and management; third, to train students in the use of equipment and methods of business; and finally, since all other training is ineffective unless it leads to action, we aim to develop in the students a capacity for making judgments and decisions based on analyses of facts. The school can not hope to train a man in the details of any particular organization. It trains men in the fundamentals of business and defers to later experience adequate preparation for work within the organization itself.

Opportunities for men trained in business are numerous at present and the field will doubtlessly continue to expand rapidly. The larger corporations especially are looking to collegiate schools of business for their executive material.

—C. C. FICHTNER.

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

THE School of Medicine, located at Little Rock, is an important branch of the University of Arkansas, and fulfills an indispensable function. Although the school is not a recent establishment, its growth was retarded for a while. But now, by a use of high literary standards and by a superior class of professors, and by a growth in statewide interest in the school, and by an increase in financial appropriations, this Arkansas Medical School is at last beginning to occupy the position it rightfully deserves as one of the leading medical schools of the South.

DR. VINSONHALER

Much of the credit for the present high standing of the school is due to Dr. Vinsonhaler, its present dean. He has unstintingly contributed his own knowledge and ability, and has made many personal sacrifices in its advancement. All citizens from every walk of life owe him a debt of gratitude that, unfortunately, can never be repaid. It is largely the results of his efforts that have raised the School of Medicine from an inferior grade institution to one of the highest class. Today it is recognized by the Council of Medical Education of the American Medical Association as one of the strong educational institutions of the country. From a two-year school in 1919 it has developed the clinical departments and today that student is fortunate who can claim it as his Alma Mater.

DEAN OF MEN

DEAN RIPLEY

I DOUBT if it matters much what is written in this article, for the proofreader is probably the only person who, in addition to the author, will read it. If I could be sure of this limited perusal, I might write some of the confidential conversations, which never get beyond the walls of my office, and which are known only to myself and to the student who is confiding in me. I am not sure, however, and so, must remain silent on many things. Better that I write nothing than betray a confidence.

I have heard faculty members say "they would not have the Dean of Men's 'job' under any conditions." I have also heard them criticize him because he did not—and on the other hand I have heard students criticize him because he did——. I guess he is supposed to be a bumper or shock absorber.

The Dean of Men has the great task of working with youth, of trying to maintain his own youth so that a better understanding may exist between student and dean, acquiring through all this the friendship of worth-while youth engaged in worth-while tasks. In this last there comes to him new courage and aspirations which make his task infinitely worth-while.

To have so close a touch upon the future through daily contact with earnest, optimistic youth is to aid in making better a civilization whose new day is dawning as my night is falling.

DEAN OF WOMEN

GREETINGS from the office of the Dean of Women to all Arkansas students past and present, and especial greetings to the Class of 1928, in whose honor this copy of The Razorback is compiled!

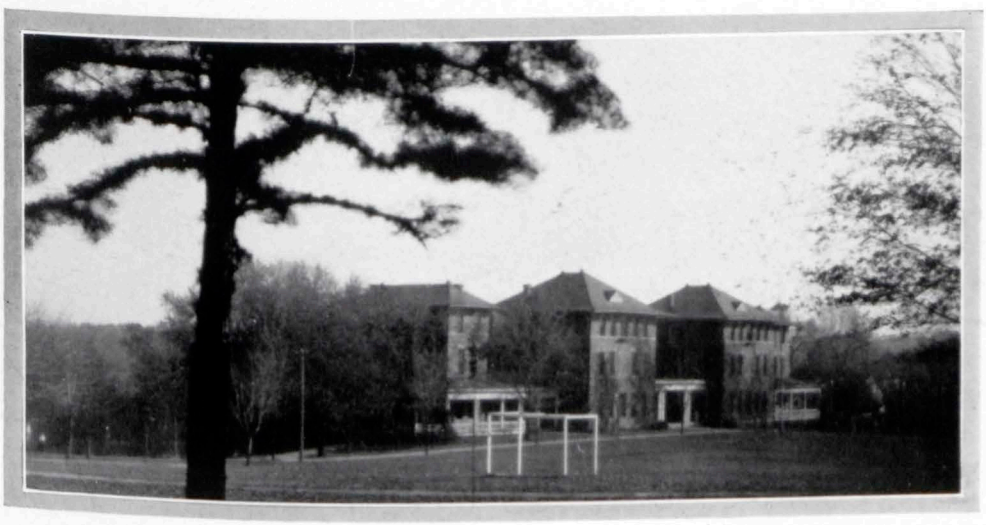

DEAN REID

It is the helpful task of the Dean of Women to serve in every possible way the women of this university; to help to create a college spirit of good work and wholesome play; to inspire all interest in study and thinking; to aid in the development of high standards of citizenship and to co-operate in all movements which make for a finer and better Arkansas.

The Dean of Women spends much time in serving on committees, in attending student meetings, in conference with students and parents, but these duties do not express the deeper significance of her work. It is rather a service which has for its aim the effecting of better adjustments between students and the faculty, and the world in which they must live. Routine duties are the means only to the great end of the development of personality and character by the conscious and comprehensive adjustments of personal and group needs.

STUDENT government in the University of Arkansas has formerly been slightly passive and uninteresting due to the lack of real power, but next year will probably be a change. When the students prove that they can handle their own affairs, which is steadily being accomplished, then can they ask for more power that the faculty will surely grant. Meanwhile, it is hoped and believed the day of student-control of student affairs is not far distant.

It looks after the welfare of the girls who reside in the dormitory. A few of the many duties performed by this Board are: Staging the dances and "open houses," keeping down unnecessary noises during study hours, seeing that one does not use the telephone more than the limited number of minutes, etc.

Membership is elective, the residents of the dormitory only being eligible to vote.

THE "Goom-Boots" are elected late each spring by popular vote of the residents of the Men's Dorm. They are given a warm reception in every sense of the word. The Council co-operates with the matron, Mrs. Ellis, in preserving order and good will among the residents. Meetings are held every Tuesday night, at which time the ones who have violated rules are called up and the fines are assessed. The Council is in charge of all dances, dinner dates and other social functions held at the dormitory. Three members of the Council are residents in Buck Hall, each one living on one of the three floors, while the fourth one resides in Hill Hall.

Members of the Council do not convict upon circumstantial evidence nor do they attempt to prove anything. They assess fines for what they see done, and for nothing else.

IN THE history of the Class of '28 many notable events have occurred. In '24 the women's gymnasium was added to our beautiful campus. In that same year the Rootin' Rubes, a women's organization, comparable to the A. B. C. Club, was organized.

The Women's League, a national organization for University women, was organized in the spring of '26. In the fall of '26 the School of Business Administration, along with the School of Law, became a college. In the fall of '27 the new Agriculture and Engineering buildings were occupied.

The Razorback basket ball team won the Southwestern championship for three consecutive years, which has not been duplicated in the history of the Conference. Tennis was revived as a varsity sport in '28.

In the fall of '27 the graduate school was established as a separate college, with thirteen graduates getting degrees. Much progress has been shown by the installation of quite a number of professional fraternities on our campus, among which are Sigma Alpha Iota, Kappa Kappa Psi, Phi Mu Alpha, Theta Tau, and Alpha Chi Sigma.

Many members of our Class have been prominent in both local and national honorary organizations, and throughout their college careers have fulfilled the duties of their offices very creditably.

With the inspiration of our motto, "Veritate Duce Progredi," our school has launched on a new scheme of development. With its new buildings, equipment, and colleges, the State may look with pride at the many achievements of its University.

CHARLES FRIERSON . . .	President
FRANCES CRUTCHER . .	Vice-President
FRANK MCBRIDE . .	Secretary-Treasurer

WE, of the Class of '29, have furnished our quota of athletes, social hounds, students, and activity fiends. For this we claim no distinction. Other classes have done the same. However, we are proud that in '24, when the upperclassmen refused to take us on the annual Freshman hike, we took the upperclassmen, thus preserving inviolate an ancient custom. The same year saw our football team undefeated and our track team beat the varsity team three times.

We have flunked in classrooms, criticized the administration, gloried in our new buildings, and bewailed, as have all before us, that Freshmen can be no longer controlled.

We have sweltered under a broiling sun on the drill field, and on the same field, when the moon peeped over Mt. Sequoyah—a friendly, glowing moon—we have whispered words of love. We have thrust our shivering bodies into the bitter cold north wind that sweeps across the campus on winter mornings and lolled on the grass watching the young leaves flutter in the spring breeze and the white clouds drift past distant mountains.

We have "politiced," gold-dug, and gossiped. We have had our time of high carnival, of sorrow. We have made our lasting friendships and fleeting loves. Our minds are stored with happy memories and, we hope, with useful knowledge.

For three years we have drunk deeply of University life and are thankful that there is yet another year in which to drain the dregs, for we love it.

PORTER GRACE	President
BERNAL SEAMSTER . .	Vice-President
FLOURNOY PRICE	Secretary
CHARLES RYAN	Treasurer

THE wise and sophisticated Sophomores have finished their blase careers, and are well on their way to bigger and better things—namely, to be dignified Juniors.

Our burn-out dance was also a knockout, and even our rival friends, the Juniors and Seniors, will have to admit that it takes Freshmen and Sophomores to put on things—and how!

In athletics the Sophomore class is well represented by Schoonover, Hall, Van Sickle, Carbough, Geis, Armstrong, Treis, Gardner, Moore, Trimble, Pruitt, and Douglas.

I drink a toast to the Sophomores,
The dignified, blase Sophomores;
May they ever be
As it seemed to me,
As I stood at the foot of the college,
That I had all the knowledge
That was coming to me ever,
And that we could never, oh never,
Be only less wise than a Sophomore—
A dignified, blase Sophomore.

THE CLASS

By ROBERT MCGREGOR

ORIENTATION WEEK marked the gathering of over 600 students, fresh out of high school, who were to know each other for the next four years as classmates. The third orientation week was a great success and by the time the upper classmen arrived on the campus we thought that we knew almost as much as they did about the whole school and school life. Three months later when we were allowed to pull off our green caps we then realized that we were the most ignorant class of humans that ever assembled for any one purpose. We had learned how much there was to learn.

The Class of 1931 is leaving a record that will be hard to surpass. A football team that was not defeated was only one of the varied achievements in extra-curricula activities. The basket ball team which kept the all-victorious South-west Conference Champions in trim enjoyed more than a good season, while the track team this year is the best produced in the past two years and would vie for honors with the one of the 1929 class, which has been acclaimed the best that a Freshman class has ever turned out. They will be a big factor of the Varsity track team of next year which will play host to the teams of the Southwest Conference when the Conference Track and Field Meet is held here. The class treasurer was the only member who was so fortunate as to make the debating team, but he proved his worth by participating in two Conference debates, an honor very seldom accorded a freshman.

As ever, we had the distinction of having "the best-looking girls that a freshman class has ever had." We leave our humble cellar position at last to the less fortunate ones who will succeed us, and—we wish them well.

Razorback Rampage

Homecoming Day—The day of days! Everybody's back to see the old Arkansas spirit again display itself. And they did not return in vain either. The gaily bedecked freshmen furnished plenty of amusement and to cap a perfect day, the Razorbacks beat the Oklahoma Aggies, 1927 Missouri Valley Champs, by the decisive score of 33 to 20.

Another feature of the Homecoming celebration was the parade, sponsored by the A. B. C. Club. Led by Uncle Sam's cadets, many beautiful floats followed in line. To the direct right is the Carnall Hall float which won first prize. The Chi Omegas were given the prize for the best becorated house.

THE 1928 RAZORBACK

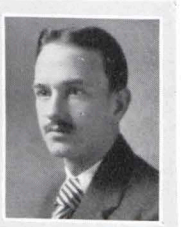

MAX BROOKS
Editor

OPERATING for the first time in University history under the Blanket Tax System, the staff was confronted with entirely new and difficult problems. There being no standard of past years to go by, making a budget was a trying task and holding to it was still more so. The aim of this year's staff was not so much to build an elaborate and expensive book, but to build a better book, and by making necessary changes we tried experiments which we hoped would enable the next year's staff to enlarge the book to the standard university size.

Through co-operation with the Arkansas Traveler, the staff was fortunate enough to secure the use of a thoroughly equipped office on the first floor of the Administration building. The need of this has long been felt and has greatly handicapped former staffs, in that unified work has heretofore been impossible.

The editor and manager wish to thank the entire staff, and those who have contributed in any way their services to the publication of this volume. We also wish to express our appreciation to Mr. R. C. Walker, manager of the Southwestern Engraving Company of Tulsa, for his untiring services and interest.

We hope that this book has contributed much toward the continued growth of the University Yearbook.

THE ARKANSAS TRAVELER

THEO. L. EDMISTON, JR.
Editor-in-Chief

Official Newspaper of the University of Arkansas

SUFFICIENT time will have elapsed with the publication of the 1928 Razorback that the student body will be able to then more correctly judge the effect of the editorial policy of the 1927-1928 Arkansas Traveler.

Editorially, the policy of the paper was based upon the belief that:

1. The Arkansas Traveler should be more than a campus bulletin for the recording of past happenings and official announcements —a laboratory exercise for journalistic students.

2. The function of the Arkansas Traveler should be, however, to instigate and to foster the expression of constructive student opinion, thereby aiding the development of campus leaders. The two principal issues advanced through the columns of the paper were:

1. A functioning 100% student government or none at all.
2. Stricter enforcement of prohibition at campus dances.

Progressive changes made in the general make-up of the paper consisted of a more attractive masthead, the development of an effective upper-and-lower-case headline schedule, and the lengthening of the sheet two inches, giving the paper a more balanced appearance.

Much credit is due the entire editorial staff for their splendid co-operation and loyalty to the principles which the paper sought to establish.

WE DID OUR BEST—

NO ARBITRARY standard can be set for selection of a group of any university's most prominent students, and when only thirty-six can be chosen from the many prominent and versatile students for the Razorback Campus Leaders, it necessarily leaves the committee in a dilemma.

They have sought, however, to select a representative group, composed of students who have made themselves well-known and popular by participation in school activities, athletics, publications and organizations, from each of the University's colleges.

The editor and business manager of the Yearbook named five faculty members whom they considered to be widely acquainted on the campus, who in turn selected five prominent and competent students to help them in selecting the other thirty-one members of Who's Who.

Days

HOMECOMING DAY

R. H. CLARK
A. B. C. President

THE DAY OF DAYS, "When old friendships are renewed and new friendships are formed." The keys to the whole campus and town were turned over to the old grads to do with as they pleased. Was everybody happy? H——, yes! and from the night before until the last old grad pulled out of town the next morning. All the old alumni were very anxious to see the new steel stadium and they poured in from every nook and corner of the state, as well as from many states. And, what a dedication they gave to that stadium! The game—well, we will wait to speak of that later. It is said that even Dean Droke thought seriously of attending the game.

The parade that morning was as good as the day was cold. The sixth annual Homecoming parade surpassed all others for originality and beauty. Led by the R. O. T. C. Band, and Queen Angie Madge's float, the parade started at ten o'clock, for once on time, and wound its way down Washington street and around the Square amid admiring crowds before it returned to the campus. The originality of the Carnall Hall float gave it the first prize, while the Chi Omegas took the "grande prix" for having the best decorated house to welcome the visitors.

HOMECOMING DAY

"ARKANSAS Never Quits!" How often was it read that afternoon when the chief attraction of Homecoming was the game between the Razorbacks and Oklahoma A. and M. College, was in progress.

The freshmen appeared in the usual Homecoming costumes. Everything from a wild man to a multi-millionaire was represented in the freshman bleachers. The prizes were given to Harold Hedges, Fort Smith, dressed as a "flapper," sunshade and all, and to Miss Mildred Hunsberger, El Dorado, the country cousin, with a "little brown jug" over her shoulder.

ANGIE MADGE KEITH
Queen

Miss Keith, the Queen, attired in royal regalia, surrounded by her maids, presided over the game. The Queen presented Captain Coleman of the Razorbacks with the football for the kick-off. She was given a large basket of flowers by the captain. The game was the best ever and all the old grads got a kick when Arkansas began that old comeback and the game was ended.

In the evening the biggest dance of the season was held in the Armory. Why? Not because Ripley was absent, but the Razorbacks had again heaped honor upon themselves and their Alma Mater.

ENGINEERS' DAY

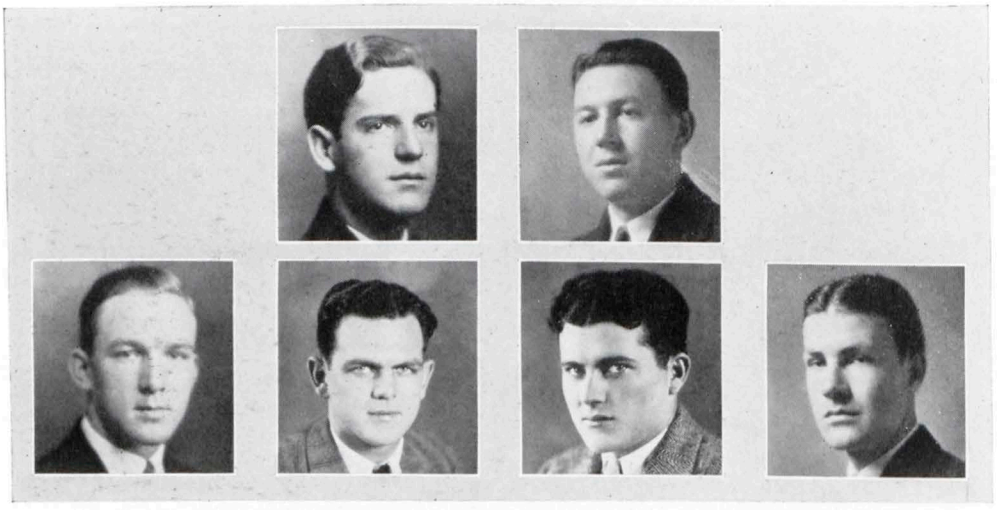

R. H. CLARK
Manager

BRRRR! It sure was cold, but that did not keep the Engineers from having their exhibits just as hot as ever. Of all the wonderful sights you ever saw, none of them could be quite as wonderful as those in the electrical department. You spoke to a racing electric motor and it stopped dead still; like talking to old "Beck," you shouted "Gid Ap," and immediately it started. Eggs frying on ice, a never-ending stream of coffee coming out of the spout of a coffee-pot, a weight that could not be lifted by one of the masculine sex, but which could easily be lifted by the weaker sex. Did you ever see yourself talk? Did you ever see yourself dead? No? Well, then you were not at the Engineers' day in 1928!

A bigger and better trolley that ever was on the Toonerville trolley track that day, thanks to the untiring efforts of Leslie Bevill, but the severe cold and rainy weather prevented its working. The band boys filled the afternoon air with Irish folk music as the crowds surged in and out of the buildings, delighted to see the many exhibits.

Then the dance. Those who were so fortunate as to "rate," received a green-and-white slide rule as an invitation to attend the biggest and hottest of all the dances of the year. Johnnie Harrison's orchestra of Joplin furnished the music, and oh boy! what music it was. Everybody saw the man play the two clarinets at the same time but no one dared to say a word about it. The grand march, a flash, the dance recorded in the Yearbook and in fond memory.

ENGINEERS' DAY

MILDRED RANKIN
Queen

OF ALL the noise that has ever heralded the arrival of St. Patrick, this year's racket overcomes that of all preceding years. The day was announced by blasts from the old whistle and the new "wildcat," which was made by the Engineers this year. The continuous blowing of the whistles and the occasional booms of dynamite, from all angles of the campus, made late lovers wish that they had not been so long about bidding their partner goodnight. Some thought that surely Old Gabriel had come to blow his horn; others thought that the whole town was on fire, but those who knew the inside of the workings simply consoled the troubled ones by a "Leave it to the Engineers," and even Dr. Fitchner thought that it would be the best thing to do, even though the noise caused him to spend the rest of the night walking the floor singing lullabies.

All night the shamrock of Old St. Pat flashed on and off, intermittently with the huge electric sign which brightly proclaimed to the whole city that this night belonged wholly to the "Engineers." All night the shops and engineering buildings were aglow with lights; all night, as for many nights in advance, the Knights of the Patron Saint worked until no single muscle would move.

The arrival of St. Patrick was anxiously awaited by the entire student body. At exactly eleven o'clock, with the auditorium packed for convocation, the celebrated Irishman who had the distinction of being the first Engineer, appeared in the form of Wycliffe Owen, with the Queen of the day, Miss Mildred Rankin.

Dr. G. W. Bissell, of Michigan State College, gave the address of the day, after which the Senior Engineers were knighted by the venerable St. Pat, and were allowed to kiss the Blarney stone.

AGRI DAY

GARLAND OAKLEY
Manager

"Agri Days may come and go,
But this one Day will go on forever."

NO AGRI parade has ever been quite so long, no day has ever been so short, floats have never been so colorful, and farmer girls have never been so beautiful, as on the thirteenth Agri Day of the University of Arkansas held Friday, April 27, 1928; one grand Day from beginning to end.

Early that morning all Agris and Home Ecs were astir so that they might have time to put into operation the most numerous list of attractive events ever to be crowded into 24 hours. They did it, but how they did it was more than a human, other than an Agri, could understand.

At 11 o'clock the University R. O. T. C. Band, dressed in overalls, sounded the note of the day and shortly the floats and "take-offs" of the parade pulled up. Leading the long procession was Hortense, Goddess of the Agri Day, dressed in snow-white, standing in a richly adorned float bedecked with hay, waving to everybody, smiling to most everybody, and laughing outright at Engineers. Behind her came everything from donkeys to steers; scarcely an organization passed unscathed in the train of 25 "take-offs;" prominent professors were objects of jokes; and above it all could be seen the exalted spirit of Ceres, the Goddess of Agriculture. The "take-off" signs ran somewhat like this: "Engineers, we can make your trolley run;" "Carnall Hall girls don't neck;" "What the Engineers learned in College;" "Absent-Minded Professor Taking his Morning Walk;" "Rip," and "Spirit of the Sunny South."

AGRI DAY

At noon the Alumni and Agri faculty heads were served luncheon in the most primitive style the Home Ec girls could think of. Every guest was given a large shingle and on it the lasses heaped a menu that would shock a city hotel, but one that would satisfy the achings of an underfed stomach. After luncheon the afternoon was given over to sight-seeing and displaying of exhibitions. Many of the old grads had never seen the new Agricultural building which was erected last year, and which was used this year for the first time in an annual Agri Day program.

Manager Garland Oakley not only "strutted his stuff" all day, but was the center of attraction that night. At the Agri Show, where everything was put on from a red-headed female chorus to a square dance, he was a leading figure. Garland couldn't make the chorus because he wasn't red-headed and otherwise, but when it came to the square dance it could readily be seen that he had been born and reared in the grand old State of Arkansas.

Dances are seldom so pleasant and still so royal as the one the Agris put on at the end of their show. "Schmidt's Barn" was fairly alive with sparkling and elated co-eds adorned with aprons, and healthy, happy farmer boys dressed in overalls. Everything was typically "Agri" in spite of the fact that shoes were worn by both the lads and lasses.

"Agri Days may come and go,
But this one day will go on forever."

STUNT NIGHT

W. S. GREGSON
Manager

THE big display of student talent, such as it is, which rates high among student activities at the opening of the school year, is the frolic sponsored annually by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.—Stunt Night—looked forward to by faculty and students alike.

The prize of ten dollars for the most clever stunt this year went to the Pi Kappas, Women's journalistic society. The act was a presentation of a scene from a busy newspaper office on "How News is Brought in and Edited." The outstanding campus figures were introduced, bringing their news and telling what to print and what to leave out. Some had serious objections to news printed, while others objected to the omitted news.

Chi Omega was awarded ten dollars for the most artistic picture—the awakening of flowers during the coming of spring and the dance of the flowers.

Other clever stunts were presented, among them the "Doll Dance," take-off by the Rootin' Rubes, showing that you never can tell what goes on in the play room after midnight. Zeta Tau Alpha presented its notes and a little song-and-dance act. The evolution of the dance, from the rough cave-man scramble to the Charleston, was traced by Kappa Kappa Gamma. "Among My Souvenirs," presented by Delta Beta, pictured an old chest filled with mementos. Carnall Hall provided much entertainment with their "Potato Dance."

Stunt Night is an annual event and although there is always something happening to draw students away to partake of the joy of life—Stunt Night is long looked forward to and if you don't get there early you are liable to be forced to use a periscope or not see the stunts at all. Stunts this year were of two varieties—beautiful and clever. This was a new thing for Stunt Night and was instituted to give a well diversified program.

JUNIOR-SENIOR DAY

ON a certain day in the spring semester, a proclamation comes from the President's office declaring a special day set aside, known as Junior-Senior Day. The halls of the buildings are deserted; for once in their lives the upperclassmen have the privilege of "cutting" classes. Joy to those who had six on that Friday, May 4.

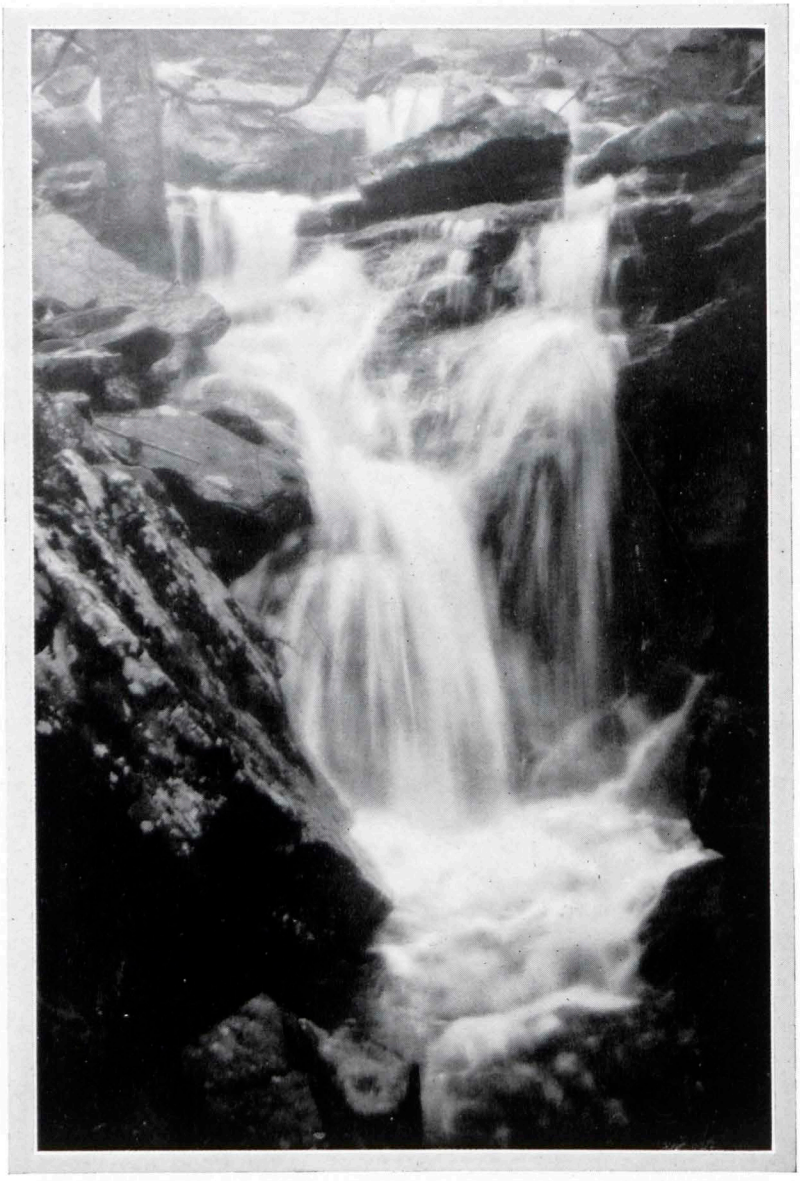

ROSEMARY TUOHEY
Senior President

A good morning's sleep instead of the usual eight o'clocks! Then a delightful convocation where the entire student body heard Mr. Rice, a noted mono-dramatist and actor, read several plays. The 1928 Seniors pride themselves in their individuality not only in standardizing a Senior ring for graduates from Arkansas University, but in inventing an unusual afternoon program. During the program of stunts from the various colleges, a contest for the most unpopular professor was held. And, as in most things, the Arts and Science college won by a large majority, the honor going to G. E. Ripley, professor of Physics.

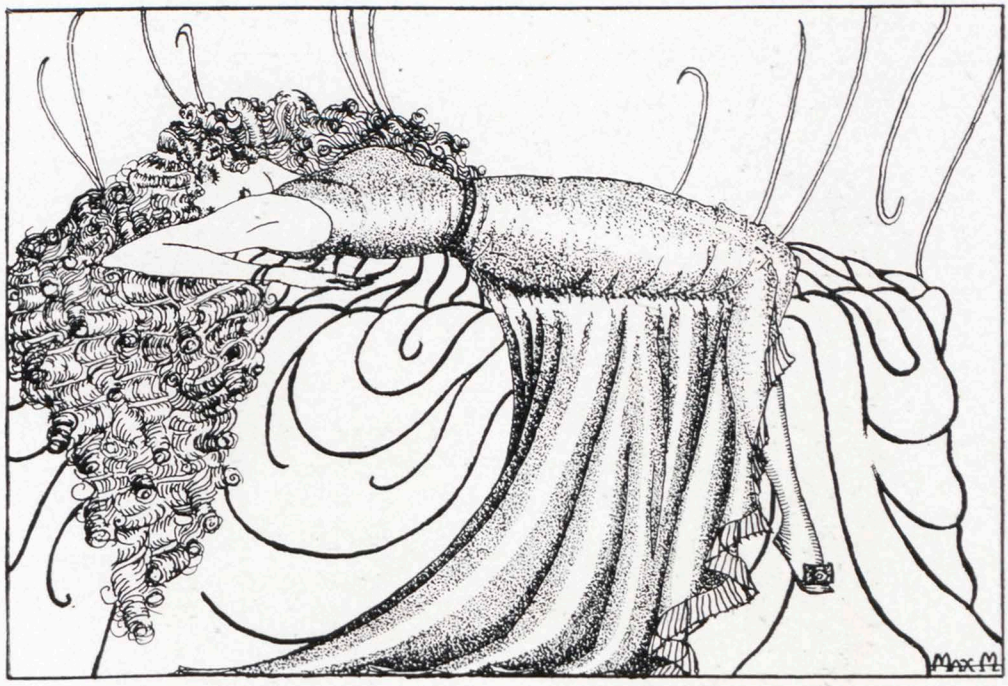

Approximately 130 upperclassmen and heads of departments enjoyed the annual banquet held at the Mountain Inn that evening. Music was furnished by the Vagabond orchestra. There among cocktails and red and white carnations, Gaston Bell, as toastmaster, introduced a Senior from each college who, as one said, "made a speech." Margarette upheld the Arts and Science college, and Tommie the Education college, as well as Coach Schmidt's men, all others on the program seemed to be men! Paul X. defended Law School, Raybon spoke for the farmers, Merrill told how one learns to extract money "painlessly," and Wycliffe pleaded for the Engineers.

After visiting the ruins of the University Shops, which burned about eight, a rush was made for the Armory where the Junior-Senior dance was in progress. Music was furnished by Mitchell's orchestra. Everyone was there, even some lowly Freshmen and not quite so lowly Sophomores who had "rated" a bid to an event for the entertainment of upperclassmen, and the dance was a success, as usual.

Again a new block was laid in the Senior Walk, again a class had gone out into the world, and again the traditions which make a University were left to the Junior class.

PROBLEMS confronting the athletic department of the University are solved by this Council of five faculty members and three students. The faculty members are appointed by the President while the student members are elected by popular vote of the student body in the regular spring elections. The students on the committee are given the same rights of voting and other privileges as the faculty members.

Since the inauguration of this committee system, athletics have been placed on a much firmer system. B. N. Wilson has charge of the expenditures of the athletic department, a position which he has filled for the last twenty years.

It is mainly through the efforts of this Council that the new steel bleachers were erected on the football field this year. They were constructed and are being paid for totally from the receipts of the athletic contests.

The awarding of athletic letters and honors is one of the lighter charges of this committee.

THE COACHES

Francis A. Schmidt

Finishing his sixth year as pilot of Arkansas' athletic teams, "Schmiddy" has an enviable record in the whole southwestern part of the country. Coming to this school when basket ball was played only as an intramural sport, Schmidt has made Arkansas famous in this sport even from the start. This season marks the third straight time the Southwestern Conference basket ball title has been taken into camp, and that with an all-victorious team. The past season has been the most successful season the football team has had in many years, losing only one game, which was to the Conference champions. Schmidt has produced wonderful results with his meager resources ever since he came to us. The best part is that they keep getting more wonderful.

Francis A. Schmidt

Fred Thomsen

"Tommie," the cornhusker star athlete from Nebraska, has just completed a most successful year. This is the first year with the coaching staff and all have been more than pleased with his ability. No small part of the credit for the great team this past season can be accredited to him. As head track coach, he turned out a team that beat Hendrix for the first time since Coach Grove has been at Conway. What else need be said?

Lieut. Guy Kinman

"Lieutenant" was the guiding light of the yearling Porkers this past season. While not busy with his military duties, he likes nothing better than to help the coaching staff. As a football coach, he helped take the Freshmen through an all-victorious season—as a track official and assistant coach, he is proclaimed the best starter that ever fired a gun on the local oval.

Herman Boozman

"Boozie" was the head coach of the Freshmen. He is the former captain of the varsity football team, and demonstrated that he had not forgotten all he learned of the sport by coaching an all-victorious team, which met some of the stiffest opposition in this part of the country.

RESUME OF THE SEASON

ALTHOUGH accorded only mediocre prospects at the outset, Coaches Schmidt and Thomsen moulded their 1927 material into one of the strongest teams ever produced at Arkansas. The Razorbacks, conquering eight teams from five states, took third place in Conference standing with three wins and one defeat, inflicted by the champion Texas Aggies. Arkansas also enhanced Conference prestige by running up big scores on Louisiana and the Oklahoma Aggies, 1926 Missouri Valley champs.

Cole and Rose were almost unanimous choices for the All-Conference team, and both were prominently mentioned as All-American timber. Beavers, Donathan, Gardener and Captain Coleman were give All-Conference mention by critics. Letters were awarded to Captain Coleman, Cole, Rose, Donathan, Rosson, Cowger, Sadler, Beavers, Kirby, Geise, Crabaugh, Wren, Moore, Schoonover, Lambert, Harmon, Van Sickle, Gardener and Captain-elect Winters.

ARKANSAS 32—COLLEGE OF OZARKS 0

The Razorbacks ushered in the gridiron season with the Mountaineers from the College of Ozarks. Rain fell throughout the game and the field was a sea of mud. Despite the mud, the Razorbacks swished through the Mountaineers for five touchdowns, while Coach Thomsen's linemen were holding the Ozarkians to two first downs.

ARKANSAS 13—BAYLOR 6

The following Saturday, Arkansas chalked up her first Conference victory by trouncing the Baylor Bears at Fayetteville. The Bears were on the defensive all through the first half, the Razorbacks threatening their goal four times. The third drive carried the ball to Baylor's four-yard line, where Donathan ripped through tackle for a touchdown. A fourth advance was halted when Washam, Baylor safety, intercepted an Arkansas pass and broke away for a touchdown just as the half ended. Shortly after the second half began, Rose blocked a Baylor punt, which he recovered to run for a touchdown. Thereafter, the Razorbacks settled down to defensive football, and the contest ended without further scoring.

ARKANSAS 6—TEXAS A. and M. 40

The brilliance of Old Sol and Joel Hunt,

Coleman's Cohorts

Aggieland's all-American halfback, was the most potent factor in the Razorback's loss to the Texas Aggies. Playing in the heat of a South Texas sun, the Porkers fought the Farmers to a standstill, and were prevented from scoring by a pass into the end zone. Then the brilliant Hunt broke loose for two touchdowns just before the half ended. The Razorbacks scored as the second half began. Cole passing to Lambert for a long gain and taking the ball over on plunges. Finally, however, the Razorbacks succumbed to the overwhelming reserve strength of the Aggies and the great Aggie machine, which later swamped Texas and S. M. U. swept to victory.

ARKANSAS 34—MO. MINES 0

CRABAUGH

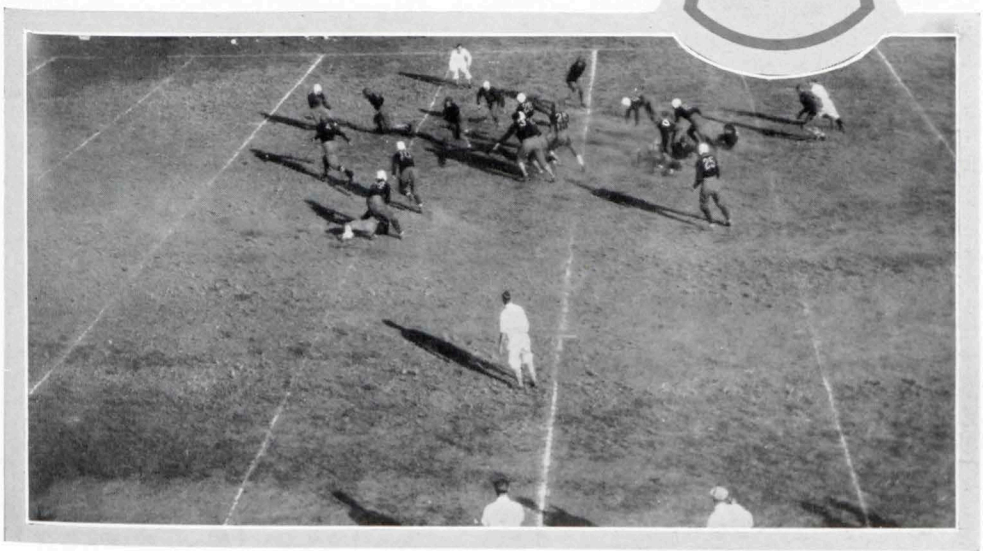

Undaunted by their loss to the Aggies, the Razorbacks began their comeback by whipping the touted Missouri Miners to a frazzle. Led by the sensational Cole, the Razorbacks tore through the Miners at will. The line played a strong game and held the flashy Miner ball-toters well in check.

ARKANSAS 28—LOUISIANA 0

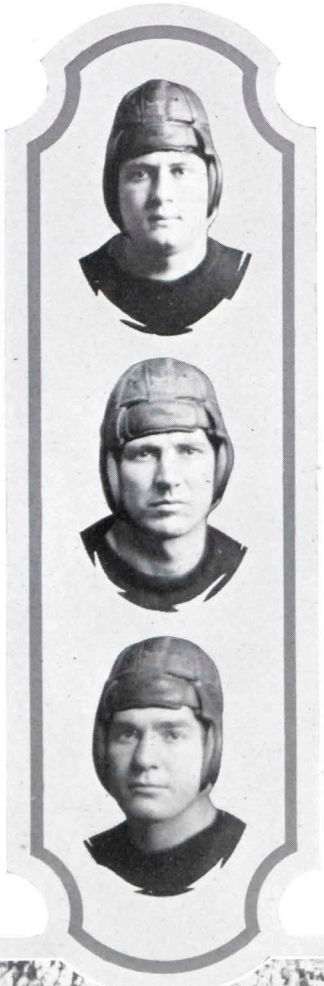

COWGER

The Razorbacks startled the experts the next Saturday by running roughshod over a fine Louisiana team at Shreveport. Hitherto undefeated, and having stemmed the famed Crimson tide of Alabama, the Tigers were big favorites to win. With the first kick-off, however, the Razorbacks unleashed a versatile attack which carried them across the Tiger goal in four minutes. Thus it was the whole game. Mixing short passes with a smashing line attack the Schmidt-men drove irresistibly through the Bengals for four touchdowns. Cole led the scoring with 22 points, but his fine play was matched by that of Beavers, Donathan, and Geise. The line badly outplayed the huge Tiger forwards, the youngsters, Gardener, Kirby, Schoonover, and Crabaugh, starring, as well as the veterans, Captain Coleman, Winters, Cowger, and Rose.

ARKANSAS 10—T. C. U. 3

The Razorbacks went to Fort Worth to end their Conference season with the Horned Frogs of T. C. U. Led by Rags Matthews, all-American end, the Frogs presented a great defensive line-up, having already held Texas and the mighty Texas Aggies to scoreless ties. During the first half, Arkansas kept the ball in Frog territory, due to Cole's consummate passing. The half ended with the ball in Arkansas' possession on the T. C. U. 5-yard line. T. C. U. scored first with a field goal. On the kick-off, Donathan raced through the Frogs for 63 yards, and Cole tied the score with a field goal. Soon after, Geise broke loose for two long gains to carry the ball past mid-field. Cole passed to Rose and the tall end dashed across the goal for the winning touchdown. This was Arkansas' third Conference win.

ARKANSAS 33—OKLAHOMA AGGIES 20

HARMON

Their Conference season ended, the Razorbacks climaxed the local season with a spectacular Homecoming victory over the Oklahoma Aggies, 1926 champions of the Missouri Valley. The game was one of the greatest aerial duels ever seen in the Southwest, Cole's rifle-shot passes winning out over the long arching heaves of Wright, the Aggie ace. The Razorbacks started with a rush and before the first quarter was over had scampered thrice across their bewildered opponents' goal. The half ended with the score 20 to 6 in Arkansas' favor. The Aggies threw a scare into the elated Homecomers in the third quarter when they took the offensive to score two touchdowns on long passes and runs. The Porkers braced, however, marching down the field for a score and were deep in Aggie territory for another as the game ended.

College Kangaroos. The North Texans put up a gallant fight, but were too light to cope with the Porker stalwarts. Although the field was heavy with mud, the Razorbacks had no trouble penetrating the Kangaroo defense, with Donathan's 45-yard run for a touchdown a feature. The line was virtually impregnable to the Kangaroo assaults and only once did the Pouchers threaten with their noted air attack.

ARKANSAS 20—HENDRIX 7

To close the season, the Razorbacks journeyed to Little Rock for a tilt with their ancient rivals, the Hendrix Bulldogs. A passing duel had been expected but failed to materialize. The surge of the big Razorback line and the impact of charging backs beat the Bulldogs steadily back. Hendrix, however, played alert football and took advantage of inopportune Porker fumbles to hold the score down. This contest marked the end of the varsity grid careers of Captain Coleman, Rose, Donathan, Cole, Cowger, and Rosson. All of them played stellar roles in their final game for Arkansas.

Tackling the Tiger

PROSPECTUS

AFTER losing Coleman, Cole, Rose, Cowger, Rosson, Donathan, and Sadler, the 1928 Razorbacks face one of the most strenuous schedules in the school's history. Mississippi, Baylor, Texas, Texas Aggies, and L. S. U. come almost in order, the Homecoming clash with the Texas Aggies on October 20 being the feature of the local season. Other opponents include the College of the Ozarks, Rolla, Oklahoma Baptists, and Southwestern at Memphis.

WREN

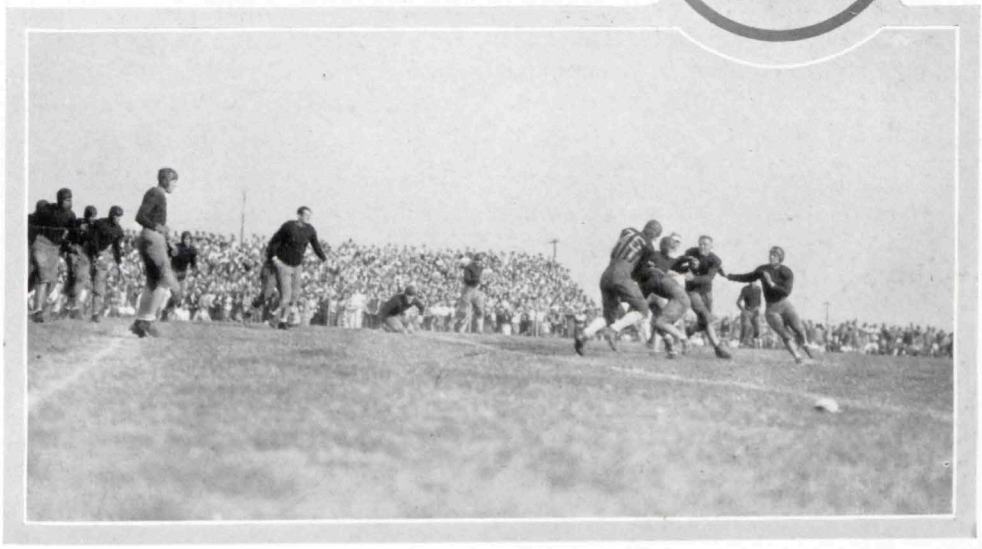

The outstanding problem confronting Coach Schmidt is the development of a punter and passer to replace the brilliant Cole. The veteran Beavers will probably be groomed for the job. An abundance of line material composed of veteran lettermen and reserves along with a number of husky freshmen, will be available. With such huskies as Winters, Gardener, Buckalew, Moore, Kirby, Varnell, Van Sickle, Lambert, Schoonover, Anglin, and Creighton on hand, the Razorbacks should have one of the strongest lines in the section. Beavers, Geise and Miller form the nucleus for a backfield. Other candidates will include Fondren, Holmes, Thompson, Dale, Masters and McGregor. Creighton may be shifted to the backfield because of his speed.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

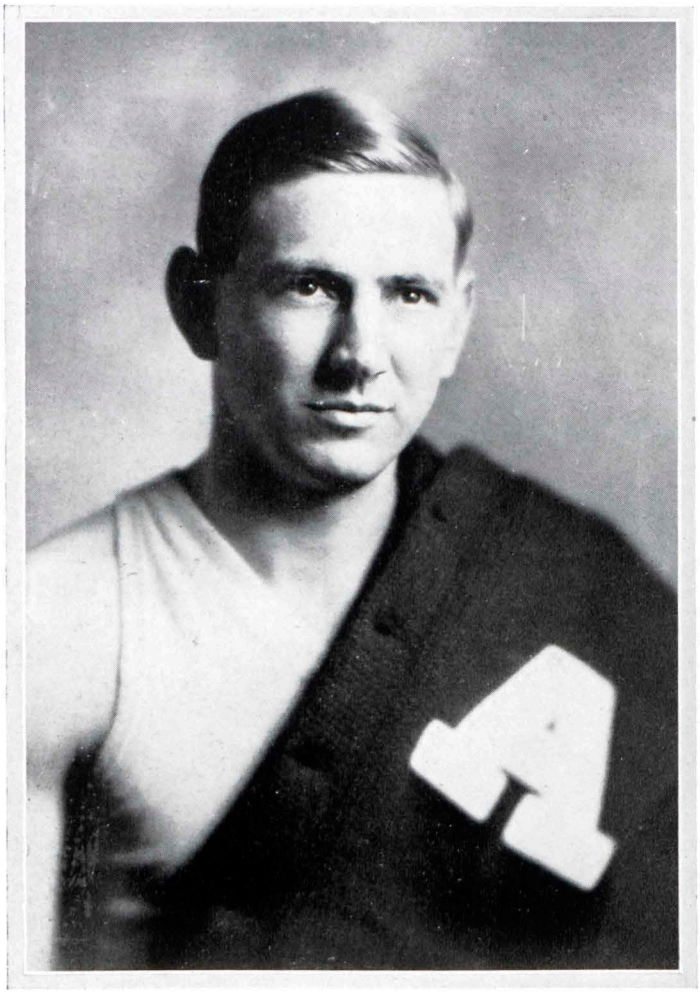

FOR the second straight season Coach Farris' wearers of the Green went through the season undefeated. Boasting a line average of 185 pounds and a galaxy of good backs, the Porkerettes battered three strong junior college teams from Arkansas, Oklahoma and Missouri into defeat, and hooked up with the varsity in strenuous scrimmages, thus getting experience that will stand them in good stead in 1928.

The Oklahoma Miners furnished the first opposition for the Farrismen and were defeated 25 to 6. The strong Aggie team from Beebe came to Fayetteville and caught the junior Porkers weakened by the ineligibility of several stars. Although considerably outgained, the Frosh pulled out with a one-point win, 7 to 6. The last clash was with the Ozark Wesleyan aggregation from Carthage, Mo. The Methodists fell before the fighting Frosh, 24 to 6.

Eighteen freshmen were awarded numerals at the close of the season. Those reporting for spring football received a numeral sweater instead of the customary jersey. Numeral men were A. P. Ryland, John Hilton, Milan Creighton, Ashley French, Hollis Buckalew, Oliver Holmes, Ray Anglin, Bob MacGregor, Bob Lyle, Thomas Finney, Milton McAlvaney, Moody Pearson, Julian Masters, Jack Newton, Aubrey Butler, Larkin Hobbs, Herbert Arthurs, Clifton Wade.

RESUME OF THE SEASON

FOR THE third straight time, the Arkansas Razorbacks, under the tutelage of Coach Francis A. Schmidt, won the Southwestern Conference Championship in basket ball. Combining unparalleled scoring power with defensive strength, comparable, if not equal, to that of the great Red and White quintet of 1926, the Arkansans swept through the conference like a rabid razorback through a Texas turkey ranch, losing not a single game and setting a new scoring record with 463 points as against their opponents' 270. Admittedly the greatest team in Southwestern history, the Schmidt-men were hailed by critics as one of the outstanding cage machines of the country.

The Razorbacks again won the lion's share of All-Conference honors. Several competent critics picked the entire Porker line-up for the first team. Captain Glen Rose was, for the third time, a unanimous choice for All-Conference guard; a record unprecedented in Southwestern history. Tom Pickel was also a unanimous choice for center. Haizlip, Schoonover and Lambert were all favorites with the all-star pickers.

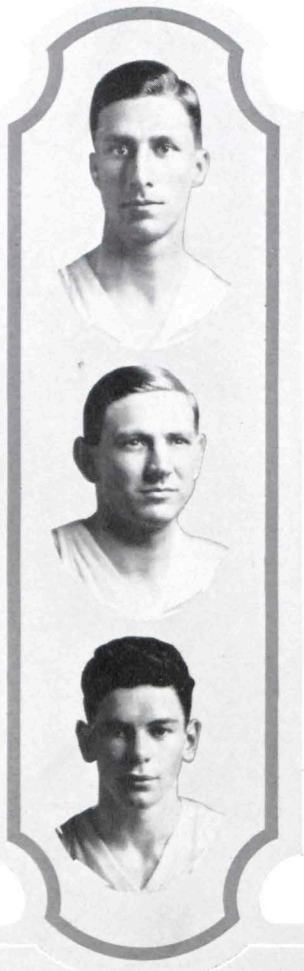

"A"s were awarded to Capt. Rose, Haizlip, Pickel, Lambert, Schoonover, Horst, Hale, Kays and Prewitt. Gold basket balls, emblematic of the championship, were also awarded to the letter men.

THE NON-STOP FLIGHT

COACH SCHMIDT'S champions got off to a flying start by taking two hard-fought tilts from the T. C. U. Horned Frogs. Trailing at the half in the first game, the Razorbacks came back in the second stanza to cop the contest, 23 to 18. The second game was a thriller. The Porkers led till the last few minutes when T. C. U. fought back to a tie with a volley of sensational long shots, the last slithering through the loop just as the final gun sounded. The Arkansans forged ahead in the extra period to win, 28 to 24.

Reckoned as among Arkansas' outstanding rivals for the title, the Texas Longhorns came to Fayetteville only to see their hopes wane before the onslaught of Schmidt's mighty machine. The flashy Texas sharpshooters were limited to long shots by the great guarding of Captain Rose and Lambert, while the Steers shifted their style of defense again and again in futile efforts to stop the fast-breaking Pigs. The Arkansans took the first game by a decisive margin, 42 to 26; and the following night, with Haizlip, Schoonover and Pickel, leading the rout, ran wild to set a Conference scoring record, 59 to 29.

This record was hardly sooner made than tied. Rose's Ramblers broke through the Baylor Bears at Waco for a 59-to-21 win and followed this up with a 34-to-21 victory over the Bruins. While waiting for S. M. U., Coach Schmidt sent his charges against the Hendrix Bulldogs, collegiate champions of Arkansas for years. The Bulldogs were easy for the Razorbacks, and were defeated, 69 to 30, and 50 to 24.

Then came the undefeated S. M. U. Mustangs, to make their bid for the Razorbacks' crown. But just as Texas and T. C. U. before them, the Ponies fell before the sparkling play of Rose et al. The first night, Rose and Lambert silenced Allison, the Mustangs' big gun, while Haizlip and Pickel were hitting the hoop with uncanny regularity to score 48 points to their opponents' 26. A. Hale, substitute forward, also turned in a sensational game. The next night Schoonover led the scoring as the Razorbacks took a somewhat closer contest, 34 to 22.

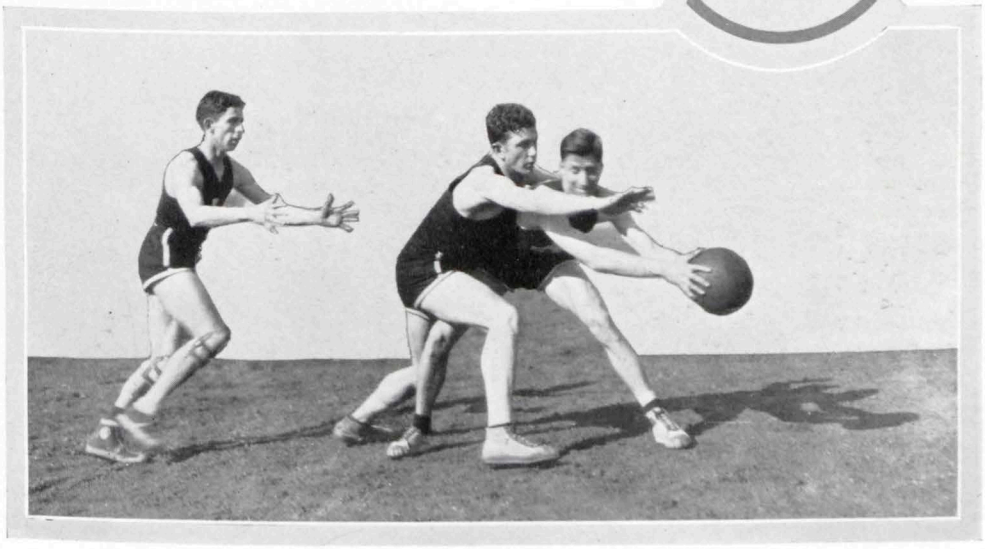

To wind up the season, Coach Schmidt led his undefeated six-footers to South Texas for a series with Rice and Texas A. and M. At Houston the Porkers encountered unexpected opposition in an inspired Rice team and were extended to take two hard-fought tilts from the Owls, 20 to 11, and 28 to 23. The Razorbacks cinched the gonfalon at College Station with two wins from the Aggies, 42 to 18 and 46 to 31.

PREWITT

PROSPECTUS

DESPITE the loss of such important vertebrae from the Razorbackbone as Rose, Haizlip, and Kays, Coach Schmidt will have good prospects for another winning team in 1929. Lambert, Pickel, and Schoonover, All-Conference men, will return along with A. Hale, Horst, and Prewitt, lettermen. Henderson, Eidson, H. Hale, Diamant, Millard, and other reserves of 1928 will be in the running for places on the varsity. On the other hand, it appears probable that Arkansas' hardest games will be on foreign courts next year, and this fact may weigh against the champions' chances for a fourth straight flag.

Coach Farris' freshman squad, whose picture is seen below, will send up some promising material for the coming campaign. The rangy Porkerettes, led by Captain Jim Pickren, had a successful season, defeating a number of high school fives, including the strong Winslow and Fort Smith aggregations, and showing up well in frequent scrimmages with the varsity. Numerals were awarded to the following: Captain Pickren, Dudley, Adams, Holt, Oliver, Masters, Burns, Robbins, and Bacchus.

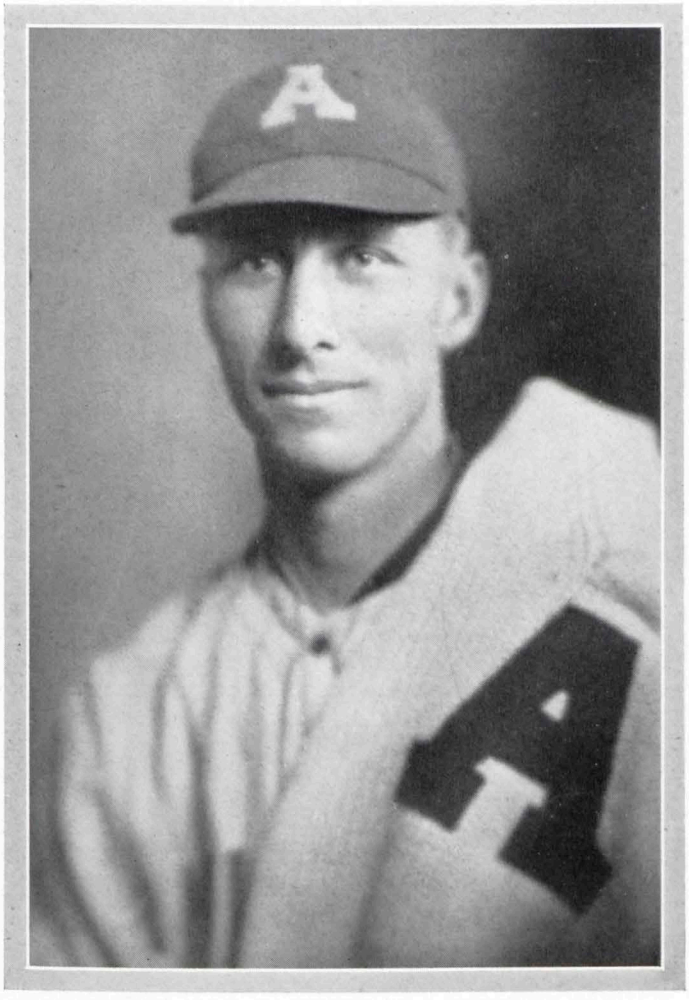

Baseball

CAPTAIN ARTHUR RAYNOR

THE Razorbacks, after getting off to a bad start, came back and developed into one of the strongest teams developed at the University in recent years. Unfavorable weather and lack of a playing field during the training season were the causes for the early losses. Going to Texas after having had little practice, the Razorbacks dropped four games to S. M. U. and Baylor, two of them by one-run margins. At Fayetteville the Porkers split a series with the University of Chicago, and won three out of four games from the State Teachers and the College of the Ozarks on a road trip. The season was climaxed by a brilliant victory over the strong Fort Smith Twins. Two games were taken from an All-Star nine and two contests with the State Teachers still remain to be played.

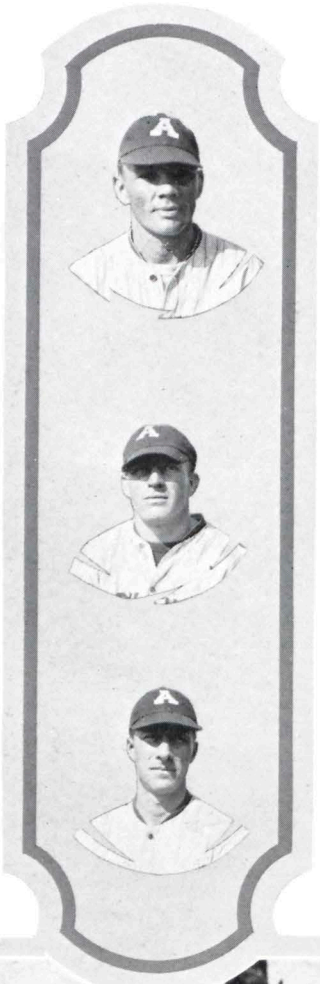

Letters were awarded to the following: Capt. Raynor, Haizlip, Rose, Cole, Donothan, Hanley, Williams, Fondren, Brewer, Horst, Trimble, Fulmer, Geise, Douglass.

The Razorback baseball team was greatly handicapped during the spring training season both by cold and rainy weather and lack of an adequate place for workouts. The football gridiron had been turtlebacked and was not available for practice. In addition, the rainy weather which kept Coach Farris' squad indoors retarded work on the new baseball diamond and it was not ready until the season had opened.

S. M. U.

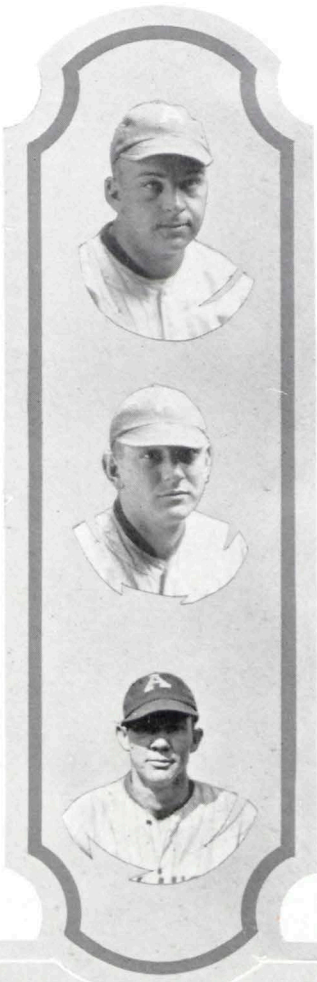

Thus the Razorbacks, after scanty preliminary practice, entrained for Texas for a four-game series with S. M. U. and Baylor. With Haizlip on the mound, the Razorbacks dropped the first to the Mustangs, 6 to 5. S. M. U. jumped off in the lead and the Razorbacks came back strong in the late innings with a rally that just fell short of a tie. The next day, the Ponies pounded Hanley, the Razorbacks' veteran portside, hard, while Miller, who hurled for the Mustangs, limited the Razorbacks to a single bingle. The score was 11 to 1, Paul X. Williams getting Arkansas' lone hit and run.

BAYLOR

The Razorbacks started the Baylor series at Waco by dropping a close contest to the Jennings-men. Brewer relieved Horst in the second and hooked up with Shelton, Bruin ace, in a pitchers' duel. The Razorback sophomore held the Bears, who loom as Conference champions, to four hits, while his mates were gathering twice as many off the Baylor star, but faltered in the eighth and the Bears won, 5 to 4. The Bears went on a slugfest the following day and pounded Rose, Hanley, and Horst for 18 hits to win, 16 to 1. Arkansas' fielding miscues figured materially in the scoring.

CHICAGO UNIVERSITY

The Farris-men dedicated the new baseball diamond with University of Chicago Maroons, a strong Big Ten aggregation. The first game was played on a cold, windy day, and the lads from the Windy City won by the score of 8 to 2. The Razorbacks were unable to do anything with the slow curves of Zimmerman, the Maroon ace, and were held to two hits. Haizlip, Razorback smokeball artist, pitched a good game except for the second inning, when the Maroons ran in six markers on hits and Arkansas errors. Williams played a fine game in the field for Arkansas.

The Razorbacks made their entry into the win column by taking the second contest from the Chicagoans, 4 to 2. The Porker batsmen came to life and drove out some lusty clouts off the southpaw flinging of Kaplan, Chicago hurler.

Trimble is tagged on second

Donathan featured the willow work with two hits and two sacrifices. Crawford slammed out a long homer in the eighth but was out when he failed to touch second. Brewer held the Maroons to six hits. Although he was in hot water several times due to faulty support, he stood the Maroon sluggers on their Big Ten ears at critical moments.

STATE TEACHERS

The Chicago series ended, the Razorbacks' competition with out-of-state nines and they left on a road trip for games with the State Teachers at Conway and the College of the Ozarks at Clarksville. Powell of the Teachers held the Razorbacks in check while the Pedagogues were hitting Brewer and Rose to win the first game, 6 to 2. Donathan's batting again featured for Arkansas, his triple along with Haizlip's single and Captain Raynor's sacrifice, accounting for the Razorbacks' two runs. The next day Haizlip was invincible and the Razorbacks grabbed off the second game of the series, 3 to 0. Waldrip of the Teachers also pitched a fine game but was forced to bow to the lithe Razorback veteran.

COLLEGE OF THE OZARKS

On their way back from Conway, the Razorbacks stopped off at Clarksville and

Cole slams out a homer in second inning of game with Twins handed the Mountaineers of the College of the Ozarks a couple of trouncings. The Razorbacks went on an old-fashioned slugging bee to win the first game, 8 to 5. Horst held the Mountaineers to seven hits and turned in his first win of the year. Brewer hurled a three-hit game the next day and the Razorbacks won a shut-out victory, 5 to 0.

DOUGLAS

FORT SMITH TWINS

The high light of the diamond season came when the Razorbacks turned back the Fort Smith Twins, champions of the Western Association, a class B circuit, in an exhibition game at Fort Smith. The collegians showed they meant business when Cole hit the first ball pitched out of the park. Cole, Captain Raynor, and Douglas all found the league pitching to their liking, each cracking out a pair of hits. Horst pitched a brilliant game, limiting the Twins to five blows.

FONDREN

ALL-STARS

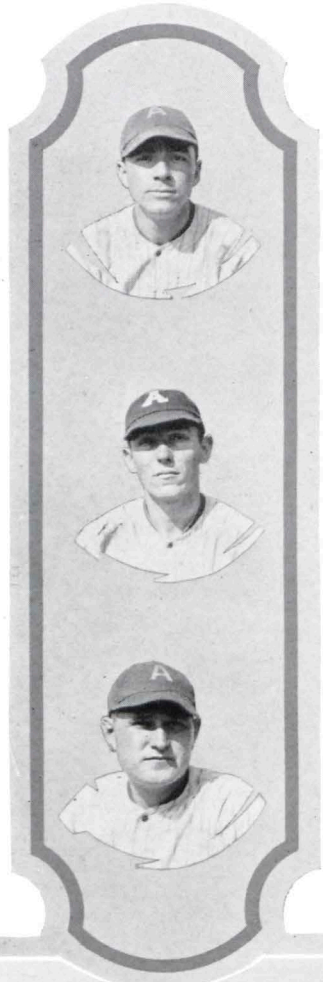

A pair of games which the Razorbacks were to have played with the College of the Ozarks were rained out. The next opponents to face the Farris-men were the All-Stars, an aggregation composed mostly of ex-varsity stars. The old-timers put up a surprising struggle but the Razorbacks took both games.

TRIMBLE

PROSPECTUS

BASEBALL will be discontinued as a major sport at the University of Arkansas in 1929. Reasons given for this step were financial loss involved, inability to schedule games, general lack of interest by the student body. If, however, there is a sufficient sentiment for the revival of the sport next year, it will be restored in 1930. It is to be hoped that this will take place and that the great national game will be brought back to stay. Prospects for next year would be good despite the graduation of a large number of veterans. Brewer and Horst form the nucleus of a fine pitching staff and there are a number of promising freshmen who would take the places of those graduating.

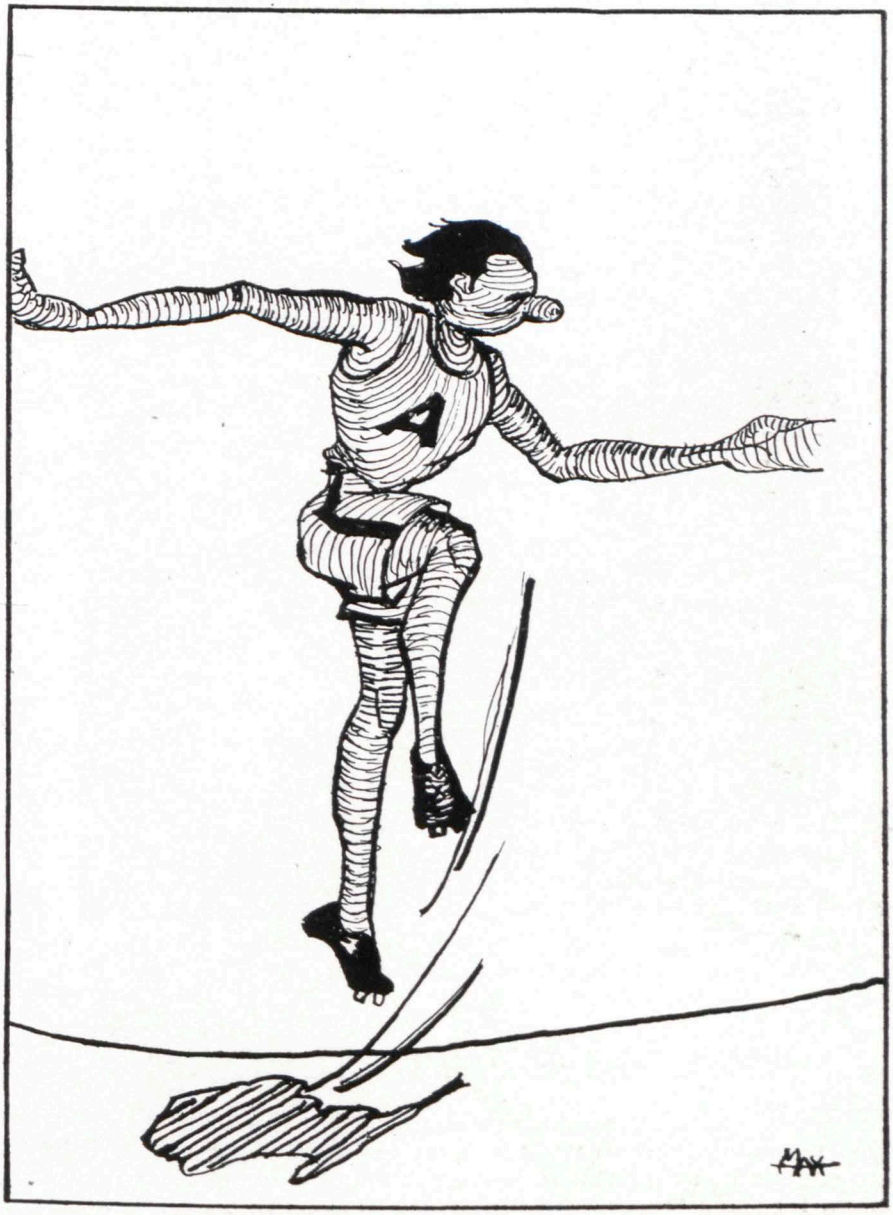

Numerals will be awarded to the following:

OLIVER, HUNT, GIBSON, WOODFIN, CABELL, EARLE, RUCKMAN, DOUGLAS, BLACKBURN, PATTEN.

RESUME OF THE SEASON

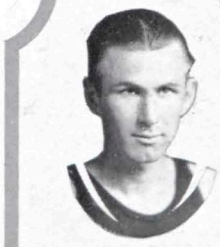

WITH a large number of stars returning from the 1927 squad, the Razorbacks put another strong team on the cinders this year. Seven dual meets were engaged in and the Razorbacks made a good record, winning five, most of them by large scores, and losing only two. The College of the Ozarks, Drury, Missouri School of Mines, Hendrix, and the Springfield Teachers were defeated by the Razorbacks, while the Kansas State Teachers and Washington University were the only schools to win over Coach Thomsen's proteges. Captain Erbie Tilmon was the leading scorer of the team, with a total of 96 points for the season. It is possible that this total may be pushed beyond the hundred mark at the Conference meet, in which he is rated among the outstanding performers in the hurdle events. Men receiving letters in track are: Captain Tilmon, Armstrong, Frierson, Gresham, McGuire, Lambert, Streepey, McRae, Pickel, Cowger, Crabaugh, Treece, E. Stephenson, Atkinson, M. Stevenson and Van Sickle.

OZARKS

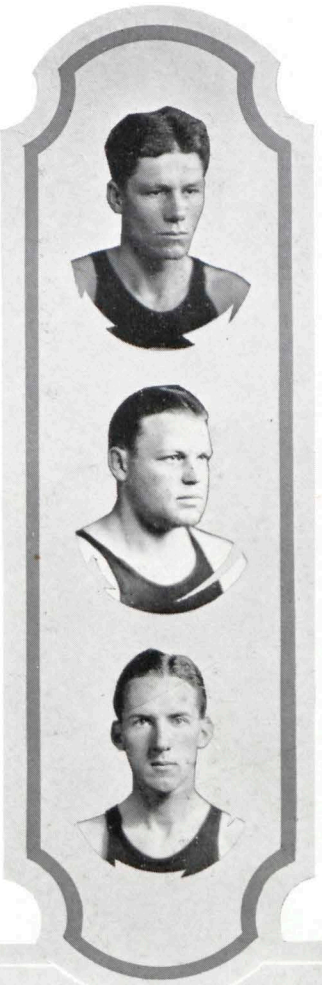

The Razorbacks initiated the track season by taking a one-sided victory over the College of the Ozarks Mountaineers, winning by the score of 82 to 49. Rice, brilliant Mountaineer star, was high-point man of the meet, scoring 18 of his team's points. He was closely followed by Capt. Tilmon of Arkansas with 14. The latter captured his specialty, the high hurdles, in fast time, and skimmed over the lows on the new straightaway to break Frank Pickel's long standing record. Fast time was also recorded in the dashes. Armstrong was barely nosed out by Rice in a ten-flat century, but the Arkansas speedster came back in the two-twenty and bettered Bagby's record with a time of 22 flat. This record was not allowed, however, because of a wind which favored the runners. George Gresham lowered his own record in the half when he stepped the distance in two minutes, 2.5 seconds. Cowger took two firsts and a third in the weights for third high-point honors. Streepey threatened Capt. Tilmon's record in the vault when he cleared the bar at 11 feet 9 inches. All the rest of Coach Thomsen's pupils turned in creditable performances.

DRURY

Captain Tilmon and his mates took another meet by a lopsided count from Drury

College at Springfield. The score was 94 to 37. Captain Tilmon registered three firsts to take high-point honors. The Drury thinclads were able to take only two first places, and the Razorbacks also scored heavily in seconds and thirds. Crabaugh got off a good toss in the javelin, heaving the harpoon 179 feet 6 inches.

KANSAS TEACHERS

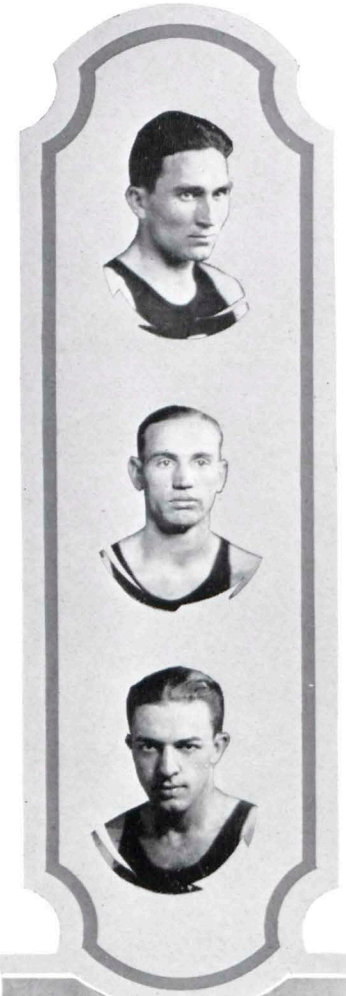

From Springfield the Razorbacks journeyed to Pittsburg, Kansas, where they met their first defeat of the year at the hands (or feet) of the Kansas State Teachers College Gorillas. The Gorillas boasted one of the strongest cinder path outfits in the Middle West and had already won honors at the Texas and Rice Relays. The Razorbacks took three first places. Tilmon won both hurdle events, and Mickey McGuire came home in front in the two-mile. Gresham ran the fastest mile of his career when he finished in a dead heat with a Kansas distance star in 4:29.2.

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

With Tom Pickell, weight star, back in the line-up, the Razorbacks took a trip to St. Louis for a tilt with the Washington University tracksters, a Missouri Valley aggregation.

ARMSTRONG

FRIERSON

The meet was held on a wintry day and the Porkers were badly off form, turning in their worst records of the year. The St. Louisans took all but four firsts.

MISSOURI MINERS

On the trip home from St. Louis, the Razorbacks stopped off at Rolla and snowed under the Miners. All of the Arkansas aces were in fine form and had little trouble conquering the Miners. Pickel got his best distance of the season with the shot, heaving the big weight over 44 feet.

HENDRIX

The annual meet with Hendrix was held in Fayetteville, and for the first time in several years resulted in victory for the Razorbacks. The Bulldogs, without the services of McCormack, Meriwether, and other stars of former years, were beaten by the score of 77 to 53. The Razorbacks took eleven first places while the Bulldogs won only four. Captain Tilmon did the iron-man stunt for Arkansas and took four firsts to be high-point man, with 20. The distance races furnished the most thrilling entertainment of the day. In the mile, Gresham ran Sullivan, great Hendrix star, into the ground to win by several yards. The Bulldog veteran, however, came back in the two-mile and nosed out the game Mickey McGuire in one of the most gruelling races ever seen on the local track. Razorback superiority was even more pronounced in the field events than on the track. Salters chalked up the only Bulldog first in this department by winning the broad jump. Pickel was the outstanding performer in the field for Arkansas, with firsts in the shot and discus, and a third in the broad jump.

Streepey descending from clouds as he broke old pole vault record

SPRINGFIELD TEACHERS

The Razorbacks turned in a win in their last dual meet of the year, when they took the Springfield Teachers into camp to the tune of 72 to 59, at Fayetteville. The Pedagog from the "show me" state had the edge in the track events. Robinson of the Teachers took both dashes, and Fite beat out Gresham and McGuire in the long distances. Arkansas won the hurdles, however, and Gresham breezed home first in the half. The Razorbacks also scored heavily in the field events and took all but one second place to pile up enough points to win. George turned in the prize performance of the day when he vaulted 12 feet ½ inch to set a new University record.

There yet remains only the Southwestern Conference meet before the track season ends.

PROSPECTUS

THE premier track event of the Southwest will be seen in Fayetteville in 1929 when the Southwestern Conference track meet is to be held here. In preparation for this event a 220 straightaway has been put in at the local track and other improvements are contemplated. In view of the rapidly growing interest manifested in track at the University, an effort will be made to schedule dual meets to be held at Fayetteville with some of the strongest track teams in the Southwest. With all but three letter-men returning, along with a fine crew of present freshmen, prospects are good for a strong team, and the Razorbacks expect to make serious bid for high honors in the Conference.

The frosh tracksters have an unusually large number of embryo stars this year and several give promise of being record-breakers next year. In their only dual meet, the first-year men beat the Ozark Wesleyan runners with ease. The score was 75½ to 46½. The following received numerals:

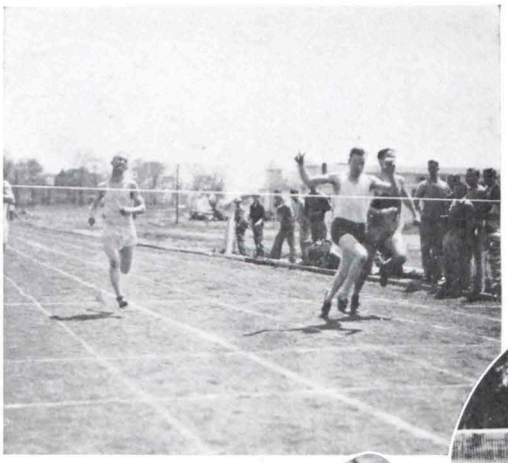

DAVIS, BAIN, MUNN, ELRIDGE, BACKUS, ADAMS, NORRIS, DALE, STRAUSS, CREIGHTON, OLIVER, ROBBINS, and THOMPSON.

Intramural Athletics

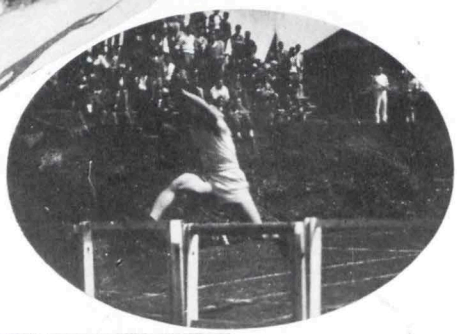

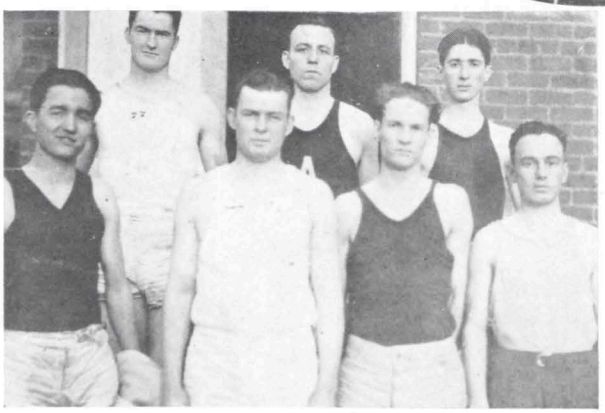

Much interest was taken in Intramural athletics this year and many good teams were turned out by the various campus organizations.

Lower left is a picture of the Buck Hall Championship Basket Ball Team.

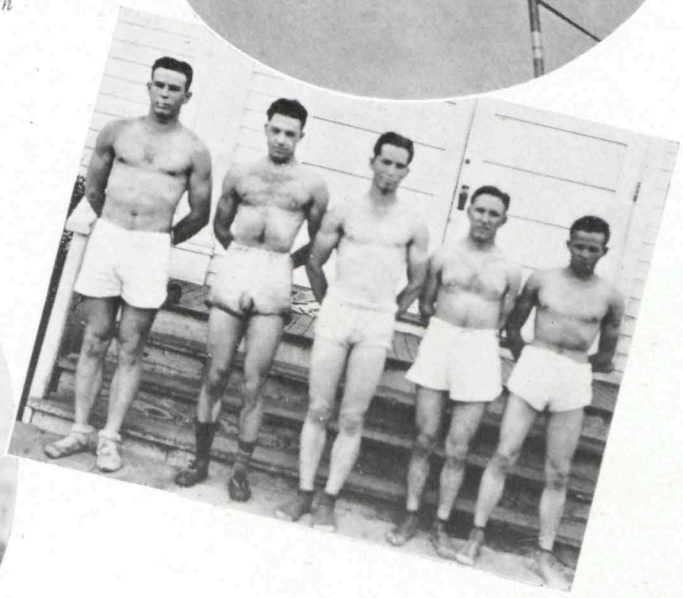

Tennis and track claimed more than their share of interest. Here are a few of the intramural tennis stars and a few actions taken at the intramural track meet.

INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS

THE most comprehensive program of intramural athletics yet attempted at the University was carried out in 1927-28 under the supervision of Coach Thomsen and student assistants. It is estimated that students to the number of several hundred participated in these games. Virtually the same system as was used in the years before in division of students into teams and leagues was employed. Medals and cups were awarded to the winners in the various branches.

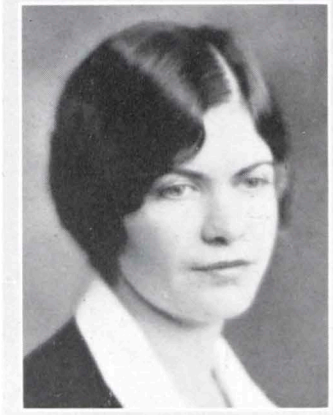

The touchball championship was won by the Sigma Nu team after a strenuous schedule. Buck Hall No. 1 were the winners of the basket ball crown. Wrestling was introduced as a winter sport by Coach Thomsen, who was himself heavyweight champion of the University of Nebraska at one time. Winners in the various divisions were: Heavyweight, 175-lb., Creighton; 158-lb., Click; 145-lb., Frierson; 135 lb., Halsell; 125-lb., Clark; 115-lb., Sugarman. Great interest was manifested in the tennis matches held in the spring. Schoephester of Sigma Alpha Epsilon won the singles championship and Cabell and Mosely, Kappa Sigma, carried off the doubles. The outcome of the races in playground ball, horseshoes, and golf are yet to be decided. In the annual intercollegiate meet, the cinder path artists of the College of Arts and Science ran away with the honors, with the Agris and Engineers second and third, respectively. The Kappa Sigs won the annual intramural meet, beating out the Sigma Nu and Theta Kappa Nu teams, their closest opponents.

Plans are already under way for an intensive program for the coming term. Construction of a University golf course is contemplated, and the ancient Scotch game is expected to increase in favor at the University. In Billy Bridewell, Arkansas State champion and one of the South's most promising young players, Arkansas has the nucleus of a fine golf team, and 1929 may see the entrance of Arkansas into the golf intercollegiate field.

MILITARY

RESERVE OFFICERS' TRAINING CORPS

INQUIRY is sometimes made as to why there is a Department of Military Art at the University of Arkansas. The answer is that the University, as a land-grant institution, receives aid from the Federal government and in return for this aid, and in conformity with agreement, offers courses in mechanical and agricultural arts and in military science and tactics.

MAJOR E. G. BEURET

Not only does the University offer courses in military science and tactics, but also, by its kindly interest in the work and earnest co-operation with the Government, assures the success of the department.

In this connection it should be noted that the hearty response of the students to the work of the department is a source of great satisfaction to the members of the military faculty and makes their work a pleasure.—E. G. BUERET, Major, Infantry, D. O. L.

Other members of the staff are Major J. L. Dunn, now serving his fourth year on the University faculty; Lieutenant H. O. Lane, coach of the rifle team, and now completing his third year at the University, and Lieutenant Guy M. Kinman, who, besides taking care of his military duties, is an assistant coach in football. Staff Sergeant Jack Greathouse and Sergeant Major Guard, retired, complete the personnel of the staff.

R. O. T. C. BAND

F. J. Foutz
Director

IF OLD Arkansas had an honest-to-goodness band last year, it was a real and an excellent one this year, under the direction of Mr. F. J. Foutz. It was he who developed such a band that the many concerts, at home and away, were all successes. People came and were pleased. No better advertisement could be had for our University.

At all the athletic contests the band turned out whether it was football, basket ball, or even track. The unusual pep that was displayed at the basket ball games was due largely to the band. Of course, they went to Little Rock and helped "Beat Hendrix," and while there played four concerts at the Palace Theatre. Not to be forgotten are the parades which the band led, Homecoming, as well as the regular Thursday drill parades. To Addison Wall goes the credit of starting a drive for new red and white uniforms for the band; something the boys have sadly needed for more than a year. The Little Rock concerts, as well as concerts given at the Ozark and at Springdale, were given in order that next year the boys would be partly rewarded by snappy new uniforms. When spring came, Sunday afternoon concerts were given on the campus.

The Team

R. O. T. C. RIFLE TEAM

ALTHOUGH unsuccessful in the National Match this year, the University of Arkansas Rifle Team again won the Seventh Corps Area match, firing a total score of 112 points more than the Kansas Aggie team, second place winners. Of the eleven high men in the Corps Area, eight fired on the Arkansas Team.

For the first time medals were awarded to the highest ten men of the winning team in the Corps Area, the inspecting officer bestowing medals on Ainsworth, Pond, Spitzberg, Daugherty, Huckaby, Jackson, Tuller, Jones, Frierson, and Streepy, at a review held April 19. Acting Captain Ainsworth was also presented with the Corps Area Cup, which now has the words "University of Arkansas" engraved upon its side, for the second consecutive time. The Hearst Trophy Match, which was won last year by Arkansas, has not been reported, but the team of Ainsworth, Tuller, Jackson, Pond, and Jones fired a very satisfactory score.

Credit for the success of the team goes to Lieutenant Lane and Sergeant Greathouse, with whom the remaining members of the staff splendidly cooperated.

Below is pictured the cups now held in possession by the Arkansas team. The one on the right is Corps Area Cup, which the team has won the right to keep for another year. The team has certainly brought honor to the University through its splendid record; their picture and accompanying write-up has appeared in papers all over the country.

R. O. T. C. SUMMER CAMP, 1927

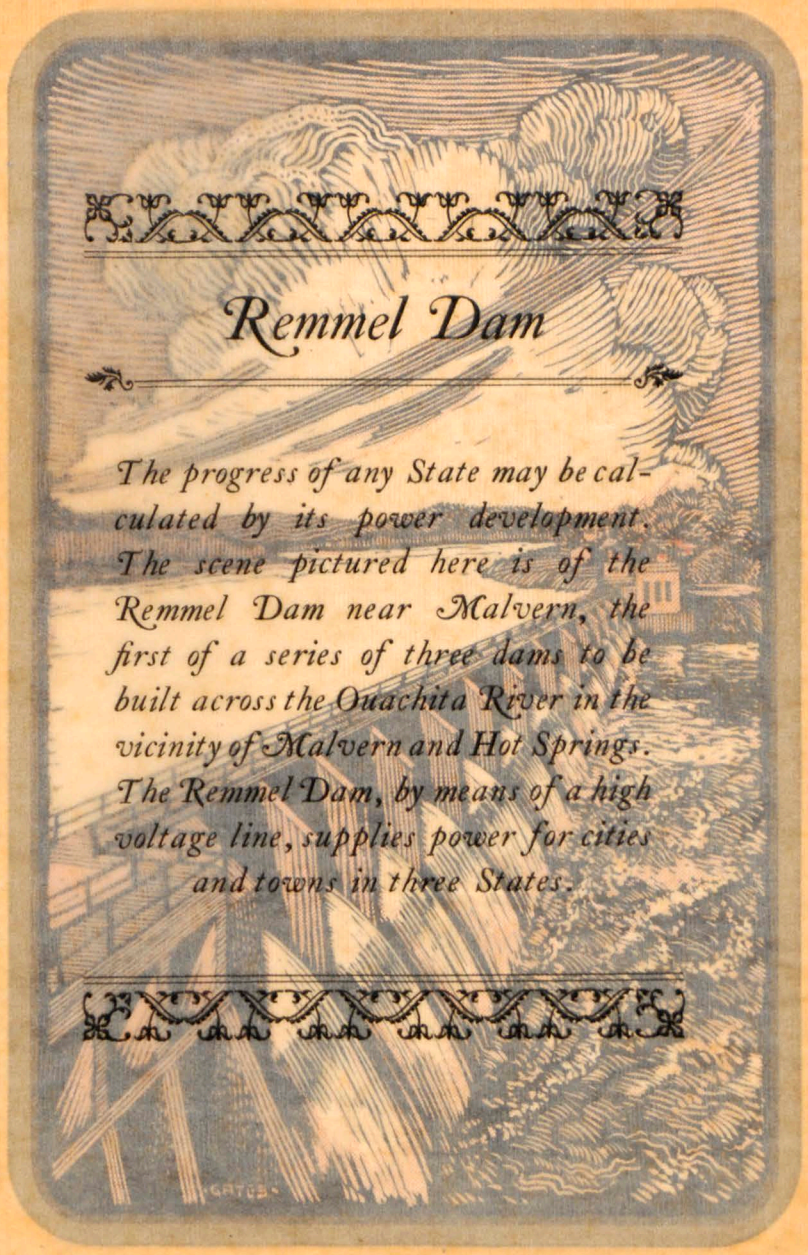

FOR the first time the annual six-weeks summer camp for advanced R. O. T. C. students was held at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. Practically everyone of the Arkansas contingent of thirty-five was on hand in plenty of time for lunch. They had arrived the preceding day or earlier in the morning via rail, auto, stripped Ford and K. C. Tents were assigned to each four men immediately upon their arrival, and bedding issued upon application to the supply sergeant.

After "soupee" the outfit was chauffeured in trucks over to the post for physical examination. Immediately following the examination came the issue of uniforms and "fatigues." "Fatigues" are a nondescript combination composed of two garments of either blue or brown tent-cloth, sometimes both; they are made in only one size—"too big"—and are indispensable in cleaning that dirty, gummy, blankety-blank article, which after hours of arm-tiring struggle and rubbing, turns out to be a so-called rifle—age, indefinite; previous handling, brutal and certainly not worth the intensive labor expended upon it.

After drill and much range firing at bull's-eyes that had better been bulls, there was always time for play. Arkansas shone in all sports, defeating Wichita U., Missouri, Iowa, and Ouachita College in baseball, and garnering 39 points against 23 for the nearest opponents in track, though under the camp handicap we were awarded only third place. Dick Miller won the heavyweight and "Chollieb ob" McArthur, the light-heavy championship.

Dances were given at the post every week and truck-loads of girls from Leavenworth gave the dances the proper atmosphere. "Poochey Park" also furnished a dance hall. One Sunday was devoted to an unofficial tour of Kansas City, conducted by the Camp Recreation Officer—transportation via truck. Then there were several unofficial trips to K. C. and surrounding cities, including the Federal Prison and the U. S. Disciplinary Barracks.

So, after six weeks of resting from the rays of a cruel Kansas sun in the comforting shade of the "Old Mooring Mast," and pursuing the Missouri Reds along the slippery mud of "Billy Boulevard," equipment was turned in. On the morning of July 27, the bugle sounded reveille for the last time and, after breakfast, the First Platoon of "B" Company formed for its march past the paymaster's desk, and outside, for dismissal, farewells, and HOME.

THE Arkansas Boosters' Club, men's pep squad, is composed of representatives from all campus groups. Its purpose is to promote student support and interest in athletics and other student activities. Working in collaboration with the Rootin' Rubes, it sponsors many campus attractions. This year the A. B. C. Club gave two shows, "Cupid up to Date," a musical comedy, at the Ozark Theatre, and "Spring Fever Revue," in the auditorium.

It provided many interesting stunts between halves at the ball games and raised money to send the band to Little Rock for the Arkansas-Hendrix game.

BLACKFRIARS

THE Blackfriars Dramatic Club was organized in 1913 by Professor Roger Williams for the purpose of fostering dramatic interest on this campus. Since that time the Club has developed into one of the most active organizations on the campus. Members are chosen solely for their dramatic ability and the membership is limited to twenty-five. Monthly meetings are held for the study of things of dramatic interest and several amateur dramatic productions are sponsored during the school year.

This year the Club attempted a difficult piece of production in the presentation of an old Elizabethan drama, "Friar Bacon and Friar Bungay," by Robert Greene, which was very enthusiastically received. In addition to "Friar Bacon and Friar Bungay" a presentation of an ultra-modern American comedy, "You and I," by Phillip Barry, was given. It was presented three times, once before the students, once at the Ozark Theatre, and once at Rogers. Open tryouts were held for both these plays, and casts were selected from the best dramatic talent available from the entire student body.

Y. M. C. A.

W. S. GREGSON
General Secretary

THE aim of the Young Men's Christian Association at the University of Arkansas is that which is held by other Y. M. C. A. organizations nationally. This aim being to further fellowship on the campus, to provide higher aims, and to administer to the spirit, mind and body of all students. The development of a rational and sensible religious life which fulfills the religious needs of the student is also considered by the Y. M. C. A., which is the center of religious life of the young men on the campus.

The Y. M. C. A. endeavors to benefit the personal life of every undergraduate and to uplift by associative efforts the standards of the entire student body. This aim is furthered by promoting a spiritual and brotherly atmosphere on the campus, which will predominate in social life, athletics, and all other college activities, and by helping men in the choice of a life's work.

Another aim of the Y. M. C. A. is to lead men to faith in Jesus Christ and by becoming a follower to become active church members and to take part in religious programs and activities.

The endeavors of the Y. M. C. A. are not limited to the campus, but extends to the local community and rural districts where it has become a vital agency of benefit. Each year teams are sent out to preach brotherhood and give spiritual leadership and guidance.

Y. W. C. A.

THE Y. W. C. A. has worked together this year as a large fellowship, rather than as a small executive group. There has been fun, fellowship, and a searching for the bigger things of life. Miss Fern Babcock has been our secretary for the past three years, and her presence and guidance have led the Y. W. C. A. into more advanced usefulness and efficiency than it had contemplated before. She has been the heart and inspiration of our whole work.

FERN BABCOCK
Y. W. C. A. Secretary

Fellowship has been ready and waiting for us in our cabin at "Sunset Knoll" with its cozy chairs, fireplace, curtains, books, and friends sitting around ready to exchange a bit of gossip, solve the world's problems, or maybe to unburden their souls to the secretary. We also found fellowship and a search for higher things of life at our vesper services each week.

The following statement of purpose adopted at the tenth biennial convention of the Y. W. C. A. at Sacramento, California, April, 1928, best states the purpose of our association:

"We unite in the desire to realize full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God.

"We determine to have a part in making this life possible for all people.

"In this task we seek to understand Jesus and to follow Him."

GLEE CLUB TOUR

HARRY E. SHULTZ
Director

ON THE night of April 8th, twenty-two young "songsters" comprising the University Glee Club, together with their fair accompanist, Miss Helen Baker, and their charming soprano soloist, Miss Anna Mae Chandler, left Fayetteville to begin their twentieth annual Glee Club tour of the state.

After "Prexy" A. B. Caldwell of the Club had called the roll and found the members "all there," they pulled out for Forrest City, where they landed Monday noon, April 9th.

That evening they put on their first program of the tour to a full house, and after being entertained by a dance that night the Club embarked the next day for Marianna, where so many University students and promoters hail from. In the concert that evening, the Club met with a very appreciative and responsive audience. From Marianna, the Club went to Stuttgart. After playing to a large crowd in the high school auditorium and being treated royally to a dance, the boys found it hard to leave this town, which by the way is noted for its famous crops, not the least of which is its beautiful girls.

Dumas was the next stop, where a packed auditorium welcomed the boys and to which they were forced to give every encore in their repertoire and then repeat some.

Pine Bluff was the next on the schedule, which was Friday, 13th, and on this day they experienced the only bad weather of the trip. But in spite of the date and the elements, their enthusiasm was not dampened and they rendered a successful program to a very appreciative audience. After the program the members of the Club were guests at a dance given by the Delta Sigma Fraternity.

The next day was the last, but not the least, for they appeared in Little Rock. The most successful program was given in the City of Roses to a large crowd of alumni and fond parents, many of whom had traveled miles to hear the Club.

After the program a vote was taken and the boys decided to spend Sunday in Little Rock and return to Fayetteville Monday morning. It was a glorious trip, a "howling success", and one that will be long remembered.

THE Commerce Club was organized in 1924 shortly after the College of Business Administration was founded on the campus. Its purpose is to reward those students in this college who have attained distinction in the college whether by scholarship or extra-curricula activities. Bringing the students together for informal luncheons and more formal banquets to discuss business problems is a monthly function which is heralded by all. Each year the Club brings a number of prominent business men from all parts of the state to give lectures to students at large.

GENERAL ENGINEERING SOCIETY

OFFICERS

R. H. Clark	President
Eugene Stokes	Secretary
L. F. Bevill	Treasurer

THE General Engineering Society is the Arkansas Chapter of the Association of Collegiate Engineers. It has as its aim the co-ordination and promotion of the interests of the engineers in the University of Arkansas and fostering a more brotherly spirit among the students in the College of Engineering.

Representatives were sent this year to the annual National Convention of Collegiate Engineers. The chief purpose of the organization, however, is to promote the annual festivities of Engineers' Day, which is held each year on St. Patrick's Day. The event was a huge success this year by giving the public not only entertainment, but also the interesting phase of the work done in the classroom and in the shop.

OFFICERS

Gay Gattis	President
Edna Kate Hale	Vice-President

THE Women's League was founded at the University of Arkansas in May, 1926, having as its beginning a mass meeting of the women students of the University. It became active immediately and has had a steady growth since. Tea dances and other student entertainments have been given each year during their life.

The purpose of the League is to promote closer friendship and co-operation among the women students and to uphold the highest standards of honor, scholarship, and loyalty to the University. Every woman who registers in the University is enrolled in the Women's League.

Steady growth of this organization is a living proof of its success. It has spread to many of the Universities and Colleges in this country to promote co-operation among women and the institutions. The local Women's League is affiliated with the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students.

FOUNDED in 1927, the Alpha Kappa Rho has had its first year of activity, and has been pronounced a success by the ones who have participated in its activities as well as by Mr. McGrew, the debate coach. Its sole purpose is to afford practice in debating to those who are on the University Debate Squad and to those who like the persuasive art. It is in no sense an honor organization, but one which affords much amusement to those who participate as well as to those who come for some form of entertainment. All meetings are open to the public, but membership is restricted to those who show interest in debate.

SQUARE AND COMPASS

SQUARE AND COMPASS, an intercollegiate fraternity of Master Masons, was founded at Washington and Lee University in 1917 and now consists of fifty-five active chapters.

Arkansas Medical Square was founded in 1923, and since the Square has been an active factor in the activities of the Medical School. The Square brings together the faculty and students in a social way and much good has been derived from the meetings.

The organization has had a very rapid growth, both locally and nationally. When the local chapter was originally organized it had a charter membership of only ten. Due to the social feeling brought about by the meetings and the benefits derived from them, the chapter has developed into an organization of twenty-two members.

UNFORTUNATE ONES

WELL Beloved, here it is. Your secret sins are written here in handwriting which does not falter. If you find them not—go and sin some more, and perhaps next year you, too, will be noticed. Chuckle not too soon, lest an ensuing page cause that chuckle to rise and choke you.

If your errors are overlooked, be thankful that you are so unimportant. If some of your stumblings are enumerated, be grateful that not all of them have been discovered. If your feelings are outraged, we are sorry; and if they continue to be that way —well—as old Virgil was wont to remark: "Facilis descensus Averno!"

Court of the King

COACH

THE KAMPUS KING

And so, with cheers, we assume that among the candidates filing for the position of Kampus King, or captain of the greatest H. A. team that ever disgraced the Arkansas campus, we can find none better suited than Charles Van Sant, a member of "An old established Kampus firm."

Of course, the Sigma Nus, Lambda Chis, Sig Alphs, Pi K. A.s, Theta Kappa Nus, Sigma Chis, and S. P. E.s are gullible enough to think that the contest was equal even though the "Boarders" had tried to pledge the entire student body.

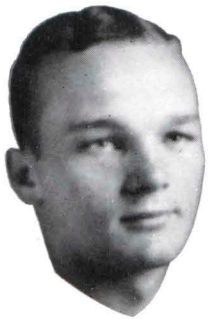

Those whose emblem is a starfish eating a piece of watermelon will think that, in the still of midnight, behind the closed doors of the Razorback office, a sinister crew sat in a whispered session to proclaim this new dynasty the most deserving team in the history of Arkansas.

However, now that the Line of Rue is definitely established, we join in the popular acclaim, "Long live the King!" And we will all kindly stand and drink a toast:

To the lineage of the Kings of all H. A.s
Where the Hortons and Carruths are known to stay,
John Eldridge and Bill Arnold
And some other true fops,
What chance do we have against this crop?

We've got the front of the book cheated to death—

The space at the left was reserved for a crack about the Delta Beta Sorority. We have determined not to make a crack about the Delta Beta Sorority, because we feel that the Delta Beta Sorority has ceased to be a campus joke and has become a campus problem.

INNOCENCE

"My brother, I think you ought to know
Of a married lady—that sure can go.
She's swell, sweet, and not so huffy;
A real lick, or I'm not your friend 'Ducky.'
'Twas only last night, her charms I held,
Tonight she's yours across yon dell;
What say you about this creature?
Her ways and charms I know you'll feature."
"Julian is my name and this woman I'll Master;
I will talk divinely and love all the faster.
This offer you have made me I will take
Tonight—quite right—by the golf-course gate."

ONE LITTLE BOY STILL IN A FOG

"Here I am—Don Julian—all neat and tidy,
Ducky, she must have thought you said Friday.
What is that I hear?—A man!—A woman's scream!
A shot by God!—I wish it were a dream.
Her husband!—His wife!—Things are so hot,
I'm running like hell but Ducky is shot.
The tune of these bullets I'll never forget,
All because of a woman I've never met."

Don Julian is racing, and time is forgot,
While his brothers are laughing and he is not.

It is needless to ask if anyone may enter the Chi Omega house at 2 a. m. for a week-end visit, but the dizzy fellow who asked if he might Pi Phi before he crashed into the Wee Wee house was not dumb.

There was a young lady from "Mazoo",
Who came down to good ole A. U.
She had a late date and there met her fate,
Now she's a ——— Who says: "The Navy controls the Virgin Islands?"

Cigarettes are said to be killing Tony Carruth.

WHAT, NOT A LAW STUDENT?

I'm the guy that put the "l" in college. I go to college to enjoy life. Do I? —and how! I drink, I love, I shoot craps, I say everything I can think of. Of course, I never study. I have not all of my books. Who cares about classes and dull lectures, anyway? I dance, I sit in lengthy bull sessions, or play poker all night and sleep during class hours. I must have a bigger party, a larger drunk, a new kind of gamble, a different form of amusement. No, I am not wasting my time. I am being educated in the approved manner. I may be wearing down what the preachers call moral restraint, but I am gaining a greater store of knowledge and things they'll never know. I dream of a life of great service to the world, of becoming famous, and of making much money. I live joyfully on my dad's money now, however. I'm the biggest social asset in my fraternity. And boy, you should see me on the dance floor! That is, when I can stand up. I am a super-college man. But don't worry, I'm NOT a Law student.

As advertised, below we picture the official spy system and the political machine of the University of Arkansas. We almost feel a tinge of regret that some day Ripley will no longer be our beloved Dean.

RIPLEY BEVILL RIPLEY BEVILL RIPLEY

Little Dessie Doyle was to move at five o'clock, according to the Sig Alphs, but the arrangements to take on waitresses from the Rainbow Cafe is too much Pig Meat.

Sarah Cotter, in the role of Boudoir Queen, pleaded with Jimmie Cox to move his pullman date back an hour and call about four o'clock.

A SING SONG SUNG

You've heard of Jesse James and of great Shylock, too,
And how some sorority gals can act at ole A. U.;
But here's a page of interest as yet remains untold,
And that's the awesome story of a little, well-meaning dormitory soul.
Taught to chew her gum but not to neck alone,
She played a game to win and not to pull a bone.
And many a heart was broken, aye, And many a night was spent
While "Miss Popularity" maneuvered So many well-meaning gents.

CHORUS

And down from the mountains fate did bring
An innocent lad to this ole hen;
An extra pint on person, behind him four and twenty dead men.
He fought for air, his honor, too;
He lost the fight, and a ring for who?

A COUPLE OF LAWS WORKING ON A CASE—

Brothers cried, hours were spent,
The ring was doomed, so hair was rent.
To accomplish their objective before the morrow,
The brothers schemed to prevent any sorrow.

FINAL CHORUS

"Miss Popularity" a brother did date,
Not even dreaming or prepared for her fate.
Their bus rolled out on a highway far,
Then they heard the approach of another car.
A command, "Stop that hack," was roared in their face,
"Give us your money," and "Hold your place."
"What, the heifer has a ring on hand—take it, too,"
Now drive on back to good ole A. U.
So back to the mountains the brother went,
The girl to the Dorm, with the tale of devils sent.

* * *

Between you and the gate-post, could you guess the gents who have the ring, as this tale kinda hints?

CAMPUSOLOGY

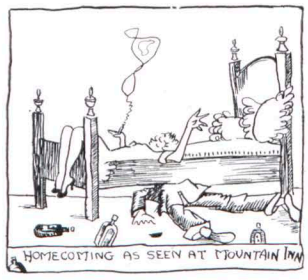

Kenneth Dellinger and "Spizzard" Fogleman were just Freshmen among Freshmen; pledges, brother pledges. Unheralded they had come to the campus, and unknown they remained, but both aspired, as all Freshmen do, to renown in the eyes of the University.

Their aspirations were realized one dark February night when they did not paint the flagpole red, and they did not even go to bed, because——. Before dusk the next afternoon everyone knew them; that is to say, even our dear Dean Giles Emmett Ripley knew them. Fame was theirs; yes, they were quite the raisins. However, woman must come in for her share of the glory, and several little sorority ladies began to regret such glory and joy ceased. A frat there was no more; a sorority lady was just a lady with a key for the whole city, but not one that would unlock the Kappa door. And now she is the sweetheart of some other guy.

"Wa-hoo! Wa-hoo! The world's all wrong. Let's change it. Something must be done. Get him! Get him! Get him!"

Some people don't seem to realize that the days of "Speedy" are over. He played with me until I winced and now if I can continue my practice I must have him. I am at fault but here is the chance for love. If there is anything dear to your heart, love it, protect it, and encourage it so as not to lose it. Think this over, as it often occurs to all of us in our daily walks of life. In my life, "The Life of Sarah" (of Tango Traveler fame), there shall never be another cop who can be the "speedy merchant of my soul."

SOCIETY NEWS ITEMS

Vaulx Hutton and "wife," Jimmie Reaves and "wife," have returned to school after a very pleasant week-end spent in Fort Smith. While there they stayed at the Hotel Baltimore.

It is rumored that Alston Woodley returned the little atomizer that some "rat" forgot to pay for.

Boozey Cobb came down from Northwestern to take Arkansas by storm. Well?

We wonder if Billie Leurs and Earnest Fontaine could give us any advice as to who Miss Walker is, seen somewhere between the Sig Alph house and an apartment on Mount Nord some certain Saturday morning about the hour of four-thirty.

Jimmie Harris (who has not recovered from his fall) should seek his level at the Delta Beta house.

It is understood that the Junior Home Ecs. tried to run Agri. Day this year. This is justifiable in order that they may run things next year.

The only rings that he gave her were the rings beneath her eyes.

HOMECOMING

The road to Tonti town and Heidelberg was closed.

Dean Ripley had decreed that this Homecoming would be a dry one.

That's as it would be.

As was—

Oh well, if a drink taken with a boy from the class of '07 will aid in keeping up the congenial spirit of good fellowship—

Who knows the result?

But who will say they are wrong, these old-timers?

They are the ones who will contribute to the building of that stadium, that law building, and they are the ones who pay the taxes that keep our school going. They have the

THE SWEETHEART OF----

Every old frat has a sweetheart song,
And mine is among the list;
With my sweet mamma, the song seems wrong;
Please write me a tune to this.

She has late dates with an A. T. O.,
After she's told me to roam;
An Alpha Lambda Tau takes her to a show,
And a K. A. brings her home.

She wears a star for a Sigma Nu,
And a heart for an S. P. E.;
And a Phi Gam's diamond comes into view,
When a Phi Gam's there to see.

The line she shoots to a Zeta Psi,
She got from an S. A. E.;
Then, if it works on a Sigma Chi,
She tries it again on me.

She loves to dance with a Beta,
"His eyes—Oh I just could die;"
She adores a Phi Delta Theta,
Until a Theta Kappa Nu comes by.

She will cuddle and coo with a Lambda Chi,
She holds a Kappa Sig's hand;
A dear Chi Phi falls for her,
And she thinks he's simply grand.

S.P.E. FRESHMEN ON WAY TO 8.00

Every sweet frat man she has met,
Now adorns her boudoir wall,
And she hasn't found a frat man yet,
Won't do for his little "Fall."

She rides at night with a Pi K. A.
Down any dark road he'll choose;
Though she swears she's true to me
I've got the fraternity blues.

Although I'm not sure which way is up,
Or where I fit in the whirl,
I love her—so here's a cup,
And I toast my Panhellenic girl.

Bill—That skirt reminds me of a circus tent.

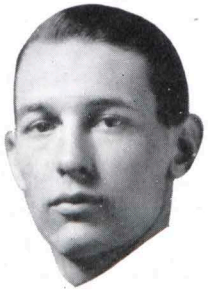

Liz—Sure, it covers a lot.

Who are Sweetie and Jelly? Sweetie is from Marianna and Jelly is the last drop from Hot Springs.

Lesson II

What is this? This is a car to Little Rock which Sweetie will ride.

Is Jelly in it? No, but he will be in a few minutes.

Why will Jelly be in the car in a few minutes? Because this is the last train to Little Rock and everyone else is gone—but Sweetie.

Lesson III

Who is this? This is the porter who showed Sweetie her section.

Is it all her section? No, part of it is Jelly's.

Who are the other people? No one but Theta Kappa Nus.

Lesson IV (hours later)

What is all that noise? It is Sweetie yelling.
What is she saying? I do not know.
Why is she yelling? I do not know.

Lesson VI

Why couldn't that funny man sleep? He was awake and heard some one yell.
Was it the yelling we heard? Yes, the same yelling.
There is no yelling now? No, we are in Little Rock.

HUGH STEPHENS KRAFT BUILT

Acknowledged Leadership

HERE IS one big reason why THE HUGH STEPHENS PRESS is America's acknowledged leader in fine college annual production:

The printing and binding of a Kraft Built School Annual is the work of one able organization, under one roof.

Typography, Presswork, Binding and Cover Making—the responsibility of one group of experienced workmen.

This answers questions as to the Why of the Quality and the How of the Phenomenal Service.
